Northwest Air Battles Are Flaring

Sabre Jets of U. S. 5th Air Force Shoot Down One MIG, Do Damage to Four

Ground War Wanes

Battered Assault Forces Retire to Take Rest and Regroup

Seoul, Nov. 6 (AP) — American Sabre jets and Communist MIG-15s clashed today in four air battles deep in northwest Korea. The Fifth Air Force said its airmen shot down one Red jet and damaged four.

In addition, seven more damage claims were pending checks of gun camera film.

The jet battles were the first since Sunday.

The flare-up of air fighting came as ground battles along the 155-mile front tapered off to patrol skirmishes.

Fourteen Sabres tangled with 27 Red warplanes in two morning battles just south of the Yalu river. One MIG was reported destroyed and seven damaged, but three of the damage claims were withheld for confirmation.

In a pair of afternoon battles, 28 Sabres clashed with more than a score of MIGs. Four MIGs were reported damaged, one positively.

Letup After 24 Days

The hard fighting for the frozen hills north of Kumhwa slackened off today after 24 days of almost continuous battle. Battered assault forces retired to rest and regroup.

For the moment at least, neither side showed any will to renew the bloody central front struggle.

South Korean troops held grimly to Sniper Ridge after throwing back a predawn assault by 150 Chinese Reds. The attack, relatively light for that sector, was the only Communist offensive move in 24 hours.

The Reds held the crest of nearby Triangle Hill without opposition. Allied leaders ordered the South Koreans to halt their suicide charges up the slope and called instead for intensive artillery barrages.

Red Artillery Builds Up

An artillery officer said Allied big gunpower had been built up in the Kumhwa sector to equal that of the battle of Hurtgen forest in Germany in World War 2. When Allied troops launched their limited offensive against the Muhwa ridges last month, they ran into an amazing concentration of Red artillery and for the first time in the Korean War were outgunned.

Fighting for the shell-scarred slopes has been costly in men and materials. The Reds have lost more than 12,000 killed and wounded. UN losses have not been announced, but they are severe.

(The Defense Department in Washington said U. S. battle casualties had reached 124,569. That is an increase of 1,174 over last week. The latest figure includes 179 dead, 1,015 wounded and 20 missing.)

The rest of the Korean battle front Thursday reflected the uneasy calm of the central front. Scattered light patrol clashes flared, but there was no major fighting.

B-29 invader bombers hit Red supply lines behind the front during the night. The air force reported 85 vehicles and two rail bridges destroyed.

B-29 Superforts bombed two Communist supply and troops areas in Red Korea. Returning crewmen said they saw fires and explosions rip through one of the targets at Heochang, near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Popularity Of Ike Seen RareinNation

(By The Associated Press)

A cold appraisal of election statistics today leads to the conclusion that President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower enjoys a nationwide popularity to which few, if any, other men in history could lay claim.

The political fires which blazed across this nation for four long months have been reduced to embers and it is easier to discard personalities and examine statistics. Here are some things the statistics show:

1. Eisenhower received more votes than any presidential candidate in history—millions more than any other. Too, the total vote was the greatest ever recorded.

2. His immense vote-appeal swept into office with him a majority of Republican candidates for the Senate, the House of Representatives and for governors of the several states.

Second Highest Electoral

3. His electoral vote total was the second highest ever piled up by a Republican—just a shade under the total accumulated by Herbert Hoover in 1928 when religious prejudice against his opponent, Alfred E. Smith, figured prominently in the returns.

4. Eisenhower shattered the once "solid South," winning three of the most staunchly Democratic states in the country and apparently adding four of the almost-always Democratic border states.

5. He punctured the Democratic strongholds of Massachusetts and Rhode Island where Irish-Catholic citizens have voted in blocs for the Democrats for a quarter of a century.

Of the nation's 146,361 voting units, all but 10,842 had been tabulated by daybreak today. Eisenhower had piled up a vote total of 31,875,451 compared to 25,668,925 for Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent.

Hoover Had 444

In the electoral college, where presidents actually are chosen, Eisenhower had won 442 votes against 89 for Stevenson. Some states might yet swing over to Stevenson, particularly Missouri and Tennessee, but it seemed unlikely. And Kentucky might yet go to Eisenhower.

Hoover received 444 electoral votes to 87 for Smith in 1928. Only one other Republican—Warren Harding—got more than 400 electoral votes. That was in 1920 when Harding won over James Cox, 404-127.

Virginia, Florida and Texas went Republican. In addition to Missouri and Tennessee, the border states that went for Ike were Maryland and Oklahoma.

Eisenhower ran far, far ahead of his party, sweeping Republicans into office with him, in many cases over strong Democratic opposition.

Loses to Barrett

In Wyoming, for instance, Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney, a highly ranked Democrat, lost to Gov. Frank Barrett when Eisenhower took the state, ending a Democratic grip on its voters. The same thing happened in Arizona where Sen. Ernest McFarland, Democratic majority leader, lost to Barry Goldwater, a political novice.

Whether Eisenhower will retain his tremendous popularity through the next four years remains to be seen. His majorities in both Houses of Congress are very thin indeed—48 to 47 in the Senate and, at this moment, 220 to 214 in the House.

Truck Overturns on Broadway Curve

Huseal J. Shepard, of Newark, N. J., driver of a tractor-trailer for the P. Ballantine & Sons brewing company, was injured, and two properties were damaged when the heavy vehicle overturned at Broadway and Stuyvesant street, early today.

Officers Meyer Levy and Harold Bowers reported at 2:27 a. m., that the tractor-trailer headed south on Broadway damaged the front of a house at 204 Broadway, owned by Kenneth Kukuk, the entire floor of the William Tubby house at 208 Broadway and a fence between the two.

The vehicle also struck and damaged the parked sedan of Vincent Peck, of 204 Broadway, which, police said was also overturned.

Shepard, the report said, suffered cuts on the face, legs, knees and head, and was taken to Kingston Hospital where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

Engine 2 from Cornell station was sent to the scene to flush spilled gasoline from the street, and Officers Charles Hoehing, Kenneth Gaffney and Francis Loeffler were dispatched there to direct traffic until the vehicle was righted and towed away. The entire left of the trailer was badly damaged. (Anner photo)

Alignment in Senate Is by Margin of One Vote for Republicans, Two in House

Issues Are Vital

Biggest Test Will Come on Domestic Problems of Nation

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower probably could count today on a friendly Congress to underwrite the domestic and foreign policy changes mandated by the volcanic eruption of votes that gave him the presidency.

It was not so much that the Republicans had gained practical control of both houses as a result of the general's landslide victory.

The friendliness of Congress—Republican by only one vote in the Senate and thus far by only two votes in the House—lay in the warmth of regard for the general shared by southern Democrats in the coalition with Republicans which has controlled legislation for the last four years. Eight congressional races are awaiting official tally.

The coalition rode intact through the greatest nation-wide sweep ever made by a presidential candidate, a 39-state popular vote total rolled up by the five-star general who turned politician only last spring.

More Closely Aligned

Although most of the southerners publicly supported Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, there was little doubt that many of them felt more closely aligned to Eisenhower's views on domestic problems than to those of the Democratic nominee.

Thus they could be expected to provide the margin of support needed to push through legislation which might be opposed by many northern Democrats and a few Republicans from that area.

An example might be legislation to give the states title to the potentially oil-rich submerged lands along their coasts, passed by Congress in the last session and vetoed by President Truman. Eisenhower says he favors such a measure.

Eisenhower's views on foreign policy have paralleled on major issues those advocated by the Truman administration and approved—sometimes reluctantly—by Congress.

He will find strong support from both southern Democrats and the Republicans in the controlling coalition for additional emphasis on Far Eastern policy, including Korea, and for cutting down and revising aid to Europe.

His Greatest Test

It is on domestic issues, outside of his announced intention to act in an executive capacity to clean out communism and corruption in Washington, that Eisenhower will face his greatest test in Congress.

Perhaps the general's program on that score was best spelled out when he met with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in New York in September. Taft said then he couldn't agree with all of Eisenhower's foreign policy views, but insisted their differences were only on degrees.

Taft said in a statement which Eisenhower endorsed that there must be a reduction in federal spending and in taxes.

Yesterday Taft said in Cincinnati that the tremendous majority given to Eisenhower "shows the determination of the people to restore a government believing in American principles of liberty as opposed to the growing bureaucracy, spending and taxation of the so-called Fair Deal."

To Send Representative

The President-elect has agreed to send a representative to sit in with President Truman's experts in the drafting of the budget to be submitted to Congress in January. This budget will have a great deal to do with any possible reduction in taxes.

Taft, who will be the actual if not nominal leader of the Republicans in the Senate, has said the budget ought to be cut from 79 billions this year back to 70 billions in the next year, with a goal of 60 billions the following year.

He and Eisenhower agreed, the Ohio senator said, that there should be some amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor law, but that its "basic principles" were sound.

Taft said Eisenhower had agreed that there would be no discrimination against persons who had supported his bid for the GOP nomination when the new President made his appointments.

Fitzpatrick Quits Democratic Post

N. Y. State Party Chairman Gives Health as His Reason

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Paul E. Fitzpatrick announced today he is resigning as state Democratic chairman and hopes that his successor will be picked by Dec. 1.

In a statement issued by state headquarters here he gave health as the reason for his retirement from the post he has held since 1944.

His intention was announced after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, swamped the Democratic candidate Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, by a plurality of 851,032—and piling up the highest popular vote ever given to any candidate in the state.

Fitzpatrick said in his statement:

"Earlier in October when I returned to campaign headquarters against my doctor's advice following a surgical operation I informed some of the Democratic leaders that I wished to be relieved of the chairmanship of the Democratic state committee immediately after the presidential election."

Statement Cites Strain

"I conducted the campaign under considerable physical strain. My health, my business affairs and other personal considerations make it necessary that I should be relieved as soon as the party leaders shall have had an opportunity to canvass the field for my successor.

"I have asked them to do so without delay as I desire to call the state committee to meet no

Wood Had One Family in Saugerties, Other at Troy; Eight Children

That a truckdriver who lived with his wife and four children in Saugerties maintained a second home—and family—in the Troy area was indicated today when The Associated Press reported from Troy that his two wives tangled in Surrogate's Court over certain rights to his estate.

According to the AP, the surrogate upstate issued letters of administration in the estate of Eugene Wood, 31, to Mrs. Jean Wood of Schaghticoke, who intended to file a negligence suit in connection with Wood's death in a collision at Paramus, N. J., on Sept. 30.

Mrs. Anna Wood of Saugerties, the dispatch continued, sought similar letters and asked to have Jean's revoked. Jean and Anna have four children each.

Survivors Listed

Eugene Wood's funeral was held Oct. 4 from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster avenue, Saugerties. Burial was in Blue Mountain Cemetery. A paid death notice in The Freeman of Oct. 2 listed Wood as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, Rt. 1, Kingston, and husband of Ann Wood (nee Hauck). It also listed the names of four children, one brother and three sisters, and his grandfather as survivors.

He was a member of Local 294, Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, with headquarters in Albany.

Women Didn't Know

The Associated Press quoted Ann's attorney, Max Goldstein of Albany, as saying that until the tangle over his estate neither wife knew about the other.

Goldstein said Wood worked it this way:

He drove for a suburban trucking company, which ships produce to New York city and New Jersey. On trips, Wood stayed with the wife and four children in Saugerties.

Otherwise he was at home with his family in Schaghticoke, about 15 miles north of Troy.

Goldstein said Wood married Anna in 1941, Jean in 1945. Anna has four children, one to 10 years old, and Jean has four, Goldstein said.

Autos Are Damaged

Two automobiles were damaged about 5:45 p. m. Wednesday when they collided on Route 9W at Barclay Heights, Saugerties. State police said a sedan driven by Harry Weinstein, 57, of Saugerties was turning into Jack's Service Station when it was in collision with an automobile driven by Robert J. Crowell, 27, also of Saugerties. No personal injuries were reported and no arrest was made.

Pigs Are Blamed

Istanbul, Turkey, Nov. 6 (AP)—An army statement today said a 30-minute exchange of fire between Turkish and Bulgarian soldiers on the frontier Tuesday was set off by some wandering pigs.

Congressman Dies Following Election

Adolph J. Sabath, 86, Gave 45 Years of Service; Was Dean of House

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Adolph J. Sabath, onetime poor immigrant boy who rose to serve 45 unbroken years in Congress—more than any other man in history—died early today.

The 86-year-old Democratic dean of the house, known as "the congressman with a golden heart," had just been elected Tuesday to his 24th straight term from a district in the heart of Chicago.

Sabath had served under eight presidents, starting with Theodore Roosevelt in 1907.

For many years he had been chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, which decides

State Department Prepares For Inevitable Shakeup

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The State Department, target of Republican attack for six years, got ready today to face the inevitable—a Republican shakeup.

Probably no other agency in Washington outside the White House was so stunned by Gen. Eisenhower's election victory Tuesday night. Unquestionably it meant that heads will roll. Estimates of the number of high officials and diplomats who will get the ax range from around 40 up to 100 or more.

That Secretary Dean Acheson is out, no one disputes. He has planned for months to return to his Washington law practice whether Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai Stevenson succeeded Truman, the top echelon under Acheson embraces upwards of 20 persons, including an undersecretary, deputies, and assistant secretaries.

In addition there are men who have been closely identified with Acheson's policies, such as Philip Jessup, ambassador at large, and policy planning chief Paul Nitze, former Wall Street investment banker.

Abroad a total of 72 ambassadors and ministers head up U. S. diplomatic missions. Of those, department officials said today, approximately 50 are career foreign service officers and the rest are political appointees.

Many changes in foreign posts are expected to be worked out by the Eisenhower administration over the first few months of next year.

The speculation is that he will accept resignations of all the poli-

Eisenhower Takes Vacation in South; Has Date for Golf

President-Elect Might Pick Douglas to Check on Budget for 1953

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower suggested today that he meet in about 10 days with President Truman to discuss the problem of peace.

Eisenhower replied this morning to a telegram yesterday from the President in which Truman proposed such a meeting. The President-elect messaged back that "we tentatively plan the proposed meeting for the early part of the week beginning Nov. 17."

Meanwhile, he said, he plans to appoint representatives "for indoctrination in several other departments in the federal government. In this way our own conference can achieve maximum results."

Following is the text of Eisenhower's telegram to President: "Thank you for your telegram. I am gratified by your suggestion that we have a personal meeting in the interests of orderly transition. Because I obviously require a reasonable time for conversations and conferences leading up to the designation of important assistants, I respectfully suggest that we tentatively plan the proposed meeting for the early part of the week beginning Nov. 17.

"In the meanwhile, with your permission, I shall try to take immediate advantage of your suggestion concerning a budgetary representative and will additionally propose other individuals for indoctrination in several of the other departments in the federal

Eisenhower Plurality Is 851,032 in State

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Final returns show President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower carried New York state by a plurality of 851,032.

The count, completed late yesterday, gave Eisenhower 3,949,153 votes to 3,098,013 for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

In the U. S. Senate race, final returns gave GOP incumbent Irving M. Ives a plurality of 1,287,102 over Democrat John Cashmore.

Ives drew 3,825,778 votes to 2,538,676 for Cashmore.

Taft Sees No Move Of Southern Chiefs Into GOP Circles

Cincinnati, Nov. 6 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft believes the split in the once-solid south is a "real one," but doesn't foresee any southern Democratic leaders moving into the Republican party right away.

The Ohio Republican, commenting yesterday on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's victory for the presidency, said he did not look for immediate assistance for Republicans in Congress from persons like Price Daniel, the senator-elect from Texas who supported Eisenhower.

Taft said:

"I believe that this break in the ranks in the south is a real one. It is my opinion that they supported Eisenhower because he is a conservative—doesn't want to take over their schools, tidelands and that sort of thing—but I do not expect any immediate move into our party by southern leaders."

Council Favors $47,739 for Work On Sewer Projects

Special Meeting Recessed to Nov. 19 When It Is Expected Vote Likely

Common Council action last night at a special meeting favored the raising of $47,739.90 for four local sewer projects.

Reports of committees favoring authorization of the money were adopted and the aldermen recessed the session to Nov. 19 when, it is expected, the bonds will be approved.

The meeting was called by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk to raise $25,000 to cover cost of a storm sewer project for a development on Miller's Lane; $15,000 for storm water and sanitary sewer lines in Colonial Gardens, the city's housing project off Flatbush avenue; $4,845.62 for extra work on the sewer project along an

Stevenson in '56, Lieutenants Feel

Talk Is to Draft Adlai for Next Campaign; He Is Silent

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's presidential headquarters were being dismantled today but his top lieutenants already were talking of another draft-Stevenson movement for 1956.

Out of the wreckage of the Democratic defeat has grown a strong feeling here that Stevenson—as titular head of the Democratic party—will be the top challenger against the Republicans in another four years.

The Illinois governor remained silent on his future plans so far as the party leadership was concerned. But those around him did not consider his defeat Tuesday by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the finish of his political career.

Stevenson was expected to make clear within the next few weeks, after a vacation, what his personal plans will be. Those around him saw the governor as the leader of the party in the months ahead and expected an effort to be made to reorganize and re-build the organization from the bottom up.

WGB Is Awarded Contract To Supply U.S. With Filters

WGB Oil Clarifier, Inc., of 139 Cornell street has been awarded a contract for supplying oil filters to all branches of the U. S. government, except the Department of Defense, for a one-year period ending Oct. 31, 1953, it was announced today by W. G. Burhans, president of the firm.

The contract is for an indefinite amount of the local firm's products, but will probably mean additional expansion by the local firm, Burhans said. As low bidder, WGB Clarifier was listed by the General Services Administration as suppler of oil filters, and it is mandatory that federal departments other than the Defense Department order from that list.

The contract was awarded on the basis of the low bid and the fact that the local firm's cartridges exceeded all specifications in a government test.

The tests, held at the Naval Experimental Station, Annapolis, included checks on general construction, pressure tests to check leakage and a flow-rate test, according to Wendell Gray, WGB engineer who was present when the tests were made. Tests consumed about two weeks.

The filter upon which the contract was based is a small filter such as used on passenger cars, mail trucks and other light vehicles, it was explained.

WGB currently produces nearly 70 different types of filters and filter cartridges. It employs 35

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Reductions in retail food prices appeared to outnumber rises this week.

Pork, lamb, eggs and citrus fruits were lower in many stores. Chickens and several tender vegetables advanced. Beef was generally steady except where prices were affected by special reductions to attract customers.

Fresh pork prices were trimmed 2 to as much as 16 cents a pound in leading chain and independent stores. The spring crop of pigs is reaching market age and hog slaughter has climbed seasonally. Pork loins and hams were meat specials in many places.

Legs of lamb, lamb shoulders and lamb chops also were being widely featured with prices down as much as 8 cents a pound. Lamb feeders—the men who fatten the livestock for the market—were reported to have cut back their operations, and this has resulted in an abnormal amount of meat available right now for consumers.

Market Is Firmer

Receipts of frying and broiling chickens recently have been reflecting a decline in chicken production last summer when prices were low. This situation has firmed the current market. In some stores this week, fryers were up 8 cents a pound, but the average was between 2 and 4 cents.

Turkey prices held about steady, but with consumption reported good, a price uptrend was anticipated by many dealers preparing to stock up for the big pre-Thanksgiving Day buying.

Food stores in many areas prepared to cooperate with the duck industry and the Department of Agriculture in promoting sale of ducks in the week beginning today (Thursday). The duck supply is large this year—as indicated by frozen duck holdings topping 18 million pounds at latest report a few weeks ago. That's half again as large as the average for the same date in the previous five years.

Egg Prices Are Cut

Egg prices were cut 2 to 6 cents a dozen this week and dealers said they might go even lower by the weekend, barring a sudden spell of bad weatheer in the main production areas. However, supplies were reported no bigger as a whole than they have been for months, and improved buying just ahead of Thanksgiving could result in a substantial price gain then, market authorities said.

Aside from a marked drop in prices of grapefruit and most oranges, reflecting increased shipments, most prices on produce counters were a little higher this week. Receipts of new vegetables from the south were not yet in large enough volume to offset the seasonal loss from nearby growing regions, and rains in the south reduced what limited supplies were available.

Higher Items

Snap beans, broccoli, cucumbers, eggplant and peppers were higher. So were cabbage and spinach, but these were still in the good buy class, along with beets, winter squash, and escarole and endive. Lettuce and tomatoes advanced in many stores.

Cranberries also were up slightly. The crop is reported to be around 11 per cent smaller than last year's, and some food trade sources said consumers are buying more canned cranberries than they used to, which leaves less to be marketed in fresh form.

Demand for canteloupes and honeydews was easing seasonally and their prices were lower. Pears and apples were a little higher, and grapes as a whole were about steady.

Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, fell to a new 1952 low this week—and in fact were down to the lowest average level since July 11, 1950. The wholesale cost of one pound each of 35 general use foods is totaled to establish this index, which at $6.30 this week compared with $6.33 last week and $6.64 a year ago. The high so far this year was $6.70 at the end of August and beginning of September.

Become Christians

With the U. S. 45th Infantry Division, Korea (AP)—One by one, 13 young Korean soldiers stripped to the waist, walked into the clear river water and were baptized into the Christian Faith. Chaplain Granville Greenwold performed the ceremony on a recent Sunday afternoon. Limb Yong Il, Korean soldier of the 3rd Battalion, translated during the service. The devout groups, some thumbing Korean Bibles, first sat on the river bank, listening to Chaplain Greenwold read from the scriptures. Then, one by one, they were baptized into the Protestant church. Later, a communion service was held in the chapel of the 179th Regiment. The 13 who were baptized attended five weeks of classes on "What It Means to Become a Christian." They never before had claimed a formal religion.

Ancient Sea Wall Found

Ravenna, Italy (AP)—Fishermen dragging nets along the Adriatic coast north of here found what is believed to be the now-submerged sea wall which sheltered ancient Rome's Adriatic fleet. The fishermen said they could see almost 100 feet of huge stone wall jutting up through the sandy bottom a mile and a half offshore in 25 feet of water. The location is just south of the shifting mouths of the Po river, where imperial Rome's fleet guarding the upper Adriatic is believed to have been based in time of Caesar Augustus.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER AND UNITY

The participation of the record number of citizens in their government on Tuesday demonstrated that we have an electorate that is alert to the many problems facing us today and that it is prompt to do its part. On Election Day, increased millions from the smallest hamlet to the largest metropolitan cities went to the polls to choose a leadership, which they believe will accomplish what must be brought about in the years ahead.

The result of this outstanding performance upon the part of the eligible voters of the country was the return of the Republican Party to power for the first time since 1928.

In the selection of General Eisenhower to be the next President of the United States, we believe that the voters of the country acted very wisely. The famous general has the ability, experience and temperament to unite our people and national unity is needed to tackle the tremendous tasks that lie ahead.

Under the leadership of President Eisenhower, we should go forth bravely and surely in dealing with international problems and the problems at home.

We look forward to an era of national unity and a brighter outlook for the American people.

PROBLEMS LINGER ON

Some idea of what is in store for the new American President can be gleaned from the announcement by British Foreign Secretary Eden that he plans to confer with the President soon after the secretary's arrival here to lead his country's UN delegation.

Eden is said to be deeply concerned over worsening relations among the members of the western alliance. He wants the U. S., Britain and France to give fundamental reconsideration to their attitudes toward each other.

One of the big problems is whether France and Britain can enlarge their military budgets to step up the size of the North Atlantic Treaty armies under General Ridgway. A new study by the Mutual Security Administration strongly suggests they cannot.

For another thing, France feels hard-pressed to maintain even current commitments in Europe while pursuing at the same time an intensified war against Communist rebels in Indo-China. And there has been frequent talk that the British, similarly strapped, are looking for a way to pull troops out of Egypt.

On top of these basic world defense matters, France is having difficulty in Morocco and Tunisia, where native unrest has loosened the French hold on two of her long-established colonies. The French are particularly upset at the prospect that this issue might be brought before the UN.

Though the British, being a colonial power, have considerable sympathy for France's plight—especially in the light of recent native activity in Britain's African colony of Kenya—they are troubled by French-American relations and don't want it to appear they are ganging up with the French against the U. S.

This list of tribulations is but a small sample from the agenda that will greet the new American chief executive, even before he takes office.

It illustrates a point often made by some of our thoughtful analysts of affairs—that the crush of events rather than declared campaign views will tend to set the pattern of American policy, both foreign and domestic, when the new President enters the White House next Jan. 20. The faces change, but the problems do not.

An Indiana woman applied for a divorce because she and her husband could not agree on a presidential choice. Despite their political differences they seemed to agree that it was "time for a change" as far as their marriage was concerned.

With every increase in the national debt, we saddle ourselves, our children, our grandchildren and our great-grandchildren with obligations that, in future years, they will have to pay off by taxes, more taxes, and still higher taxes.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A PLEA FOR REFORM

Now that the election campaign is over, it ought to be clear to Americans that the business of electing a President is too expensive, too time-consuming, too hampering of the conduct of the ordinary affairs of the nation.

It is impossible ever to approximate the cost of the election. The various reports made by candidates and by political parties of their receipts and expenditures do not represent a third of the actual cost of these campaigns. Large numbers of national and local committees make independent reports which seem trivial and are not noted. Totalled up, for the entire country, they are enormous. Labor unions do not report their political expenditures as a rule because they are "educational." Much money is passed under the table in cash to avoid identification as well as to evade legal limitations. Everybody denies the giving or receipt of unlisted contributions but they are no secret in the market-place.

If the conventions were held around Labor Day and the campaign were limited, by agreement, to one month, from October 1 to November 1, with a few days of silent interval between the last day of oratory and the day of voting, the people would have a chance to think for themselves without the constant din. About two-thirds of the expense would be saved. It would seem as though the only beneficiaries of the endless yak-yak on radio and television are the networks which charge enormously for their facilities.

If the campaign were cut to one month, the candidates would not have to repeat themselves endlessly on the same subject. They might even have some time to write their own speeches and do some thinking. One reason that the speeches become increasingly dull as the campaign proceeds is that the ghost-writers, weary of endless conferences, endless pounding on typewriters, endless editorial meetings with each writer fighting for his gems of thought and expression.

Stevenson's ghost-writers were superior to Eisenhower's, although the product of both was fairly poor in thought and organization. Stevenson used Robert Sherwood of the Roosevelt regime, Professor Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., of Harvard and the A.D.A. and Leonard Spiegelglass of MGM, the movie company, among others. These are professional word-slingers. Eisenhower used the old Dewey team which had lost for him twice, Stanley High of the "Readers Digest" and about anybody who would lend a hand.

How much if any of these speeches were written by the candidates themselves will never be known; they were very few. The speech mills turned out hundreds of them, not only for the candidates but for side speakers. A man who delivers 10 or 12 short and long speeches between breakfast and bed-time is usually too word-drunk to know what he is talking about.

It was thought that with the advent of television, the "whistle-stop" could be eliminated. Actually there was more whistle-stopping in this campaign than ever before. And everybody got into the game to the delight of the railroads. Maybe it is good politics for the people to have a look at the candidates, their wives, sisters, sons and mothers-in-law. But what one gains from a few minutes' glance at a President-to-be, is difficult to appraise. Actually, the various candidates looked like a lot of very tired men who could do with a night's good sleep.

Usually, as the long campaign proceeds the managers get into a wrangle over who gives the last word. The Democrats in New York, for instance, were in a hassle between the regulars and the volunteers that reached a state of high comedy in Madison Square Garden when the volunteers put on their vaudeville, with a band blaring, while the candidate for U. S. Senator, John J. Cashmore, was delivering what was to him the most important address of his campaign. Cashmore had to shut up because he could not compete with mummers, most of whom exhibited themselves in Madison Square Garden before, that time for Eisenhower.

Maybe I am all wrong about what a campaign is about. Maybe it is meant to be lot of fun. The ever-growing role that is being played in campaigns by actors, movie writers, musical comedy composers, dancers and Hollywood jesters somehow gives the impression that the Presidential election is becoming one big joke. On whom?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TESTING OF LUNGS

Not many years ago all that could be done about a defect in the lung was to have the patient rest the lung. Rest of the lung was obtained by inserting air into the cavity of the chest surrounding the lung. This pressed against the lung so that it could not expand and thus it obtained rest and healing.

Another method of resting the lung was by removal of several ribs. As the removal of these ribs also prevented the chest and lung expanding, the defective lung obtained rest.

Still another method was what is called pleuroperitoneum, in which air was introduced into the abdomen below the floor of the chest, the diaphragm, and this air pushing up the diaphragm prevented the chest expanding and the lung got a rest.

And still another method of resting the lung is the cutting or crushing of the nerves which expand the lung.

From the office of Press Relations, University of Chicago, we learn of new tests for lung efficiency to aid surgeons in diagnosing forms of lung disease and estimating safety margins in lung surgery.

These tests were reported to the American Medical Association in June last by a group, including Dr. John F. Perkins, Jr., assistant professor of physiology, Dr. William E. Adams, professor of surgery, and Dr. Adolfo Flores, fellow in the department of surgery. These tests have been applied to more than 350 patients during operations. They have also been used to test lung efficiency in more than eighty patients.

The tests check the amount of oxygen in the blood and compare it with air breathed from the lung's air cells. Air which contains from ten to one hundred per cent oxygen is administered to the patient and the oxygen content of the inhaled air is checked by automatic devices. These recordings permit readings which show two main forms of lung efficiency.

One reading indicates certain types of short circuits in the blood-vessels leading to and from the lungs less full of oxygen and therefore less red than it should be. The other type of reading marks a decrease in the amount of lung available for transferring oxygen to the blood.

Why are these tests so important to surgeons in maintaining proper amount of oxygen in the blood stream?

"It is hoped before lung surgery is undertaken, the tests will be useful in determining how much lung tissue can be safely removed from a patient with diseased lung areas." It will be comforting to the surgeon to know, as he operates, just how much lung tissue he can remove safely from a patient with a lung defect.

The Poor Lady Can't Decide Which One She Fears Most

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—With the hectic election period over, the United States will have to give some attention to our badly neglected field of foreign affairs, particularly to the wave of anti-American propaganda now sweeping the various parts of the world.

For some time, due to the charges and countercharges of the candidates, positive policy by the State Department has been pretty much suspended. So, likewise, with some of our most important allies. Both Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Schuman have delayed any important pronouncements on foreign affairs until after elections; in fact, even urged other United Nations members to postpone the General Assembly meeting until after November 4.

One of the most shocking developments which the United States will have to do something about is the barrage of scurrilous propaganda in Korea, charging us with atrocities against Korean women. The details in some cases are almost too revolting to be printed in family newspapers but Russian and satellite publications are spewing this poison every day.

While the Voice of America is trying to counteract it, its budget, thanks to the pruning of Irascible Sen. Pat McCarran, has been drastically cut.

Here are illustrations of what the North Koreans are telling Asia about us.

Eerie Tales

North Korean newspaper Minchu Chosen reports this eerie account of UN troops in the District of Echu:

"American soldiers picked all the young women out of the crowd (of natives) and locked them in empty warehouses. All the women were then raped. The American butchers began to brand patches on the women's bodies with heated irons and nails.

"All the women who resisted the ravishers had a wire put through their nose by the Americans and they were led by this wire through the village. The monsters goughed out the eyes of many women and hacked lumps of flesh out of their bodies.

"The butchers disembowled several pregnant women who fell into their hands during the temporary occupation of the town of Sariwen."

The Journal New Korea also reported in a recent issue that Americans "tortured more than 700 patriots near Mount Mirosan." This lying article, obviously dictated by a higher Communist echelon, went on to say:

"The murderers seared them with heated irons, knocked out their teeth, cut off their noses, and gouged out their eyes. They led the women naked through the streets and then shot them. In the village of Duchen, Pyonyang district, the American bandits arranged a so-called 'exhibition of Reds.' After tying the hands and feet of the 130 patriots, they bound them to trees and for a long time gave them no food. All the 130 people died.

"Once," the Communist article continued, "The American butchers led out more than 30 young women and girls on the street in this village. Many of the women had children. The American monsters brought this group to the Nekyagor Gorge, where a pit several meters long was already dug.

"The women were placed at the edge of the pit. One of the escorts went up to a woman with a child in her arms and bayoneted her from behind and then kicked the body into the pit. Seeing this, the remaining women attempted to save themselves by flight, but the enemy bullets overtook them. All the women were killed and their bodies thrown into the gorge."

Gore and Lies

With typical Communist relish for mixing gore and lies, the New Korea added: "In the village of Saphenni, Senen rural district, about 200 women were subjected to mockery. Outraging the defenseless women, the butchers stripped them naked and tied them up in groups of five and ten. The butchers used these women as live targets for pistol shooting.

"During the withdrawal from the district of Yanyan, the occupiers took with them a large group of the inhabitants of the district. These exhausted people were told by the Americans that they were being evacuated to a safe place. The Americans then called up aircraft by radio.

"Fighter planes dived on the defenseless people and brutally began to machine-gun them. In this way more than 300 guiltless people died."

We know, for instance, that the Communists long ago trademarked the brutal practice of leading Koreans and Chinese they considered "traitors" or "pro-American" down a village street with a wire through their noses. This also happened to American officers captured by the Communists in Seoul.

Communist Brutality

The custom of tying victims together in groups and to trees before murdering them also is a Communist practice. The abovementioned "gorge" murders near Duchen, falsely charged to Americans, also have a striking parallel in the brutal mass murder of 12,000 Poles by the Russians in Katyn Forest early in World War 2.

Many of the Poles were tied to trees and shot through the head before being dumped into a huge burial pit. The number and pattern of bullet marks in the execution trees indicated the victims were used for pistol-shooting practice by the Russians, according to a congressional investigating committee headed by Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana.

Some State Department officials believe that the current G.I. "atrocity" propaganda by the Communists may be their answer to the Katyn expose. The Voice of America did a remarkable job airing the Katyn murders behind the Iron Curtain.

Our broadcasts on this were so effective, in fact, that Foy Kohler, administrator of The Voice of America, has received numerous requests for reprints from behind the Iron Curtain. The reprint request which Kohler is proudest of came via the underground from a courageous lady in Moscow.

Nixon and Veterans' Exemption

Senator Nixon has denied a recent statement that Mrs. Nixon signed a veterans' exemption petition in 1951. In this he is right.

Mrs. Zita Remley, deputy assessor of Los Angeles county, informs me that Mr. Nixon signed the petition in 1951 and Mrs. Nixon in 1952. Mrs. Remley states that in 1951, she received an application for veterans' tax exemption, notarized in Washington, and signed by Nixon, on the Nixon property in Whittier.

A veteran in California is given a reduction of $50 on his taxes if he and his wife jointly own property valued at less than $10,000. At that time, Nixon listed a house in Whittier, plus an automobile, plus $400 worth of bonds, and since the total came to more than $10,000, Mrs. Remiley said that the application was disallowed.

In 1952, Mrs. Remley said "Pat Nixon" signed the application on behalf of Richard M. Nixon and since the value of property in California was less than $10,000, the application was approved.

Election Shows Pressure Groups Not in Control When Mass of Voters Turn Out to Have Say

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 6—What does the election result mean?

It means that America has reverted to type politically. To put it another way, it means that no group, like the labor-union vote, or any combination of pressure groups can win a national election if enough of the rest of the people vote the other way on some overriding issue that affects the voters of all groups.

It means there was a huge protest or resentment vote which far outweighed the "you never had it so good" argument.

It means that Senator Bob Taft was right when he said after the 1948 campaign that the Republicans can win if they get out their vote. But it also means that the other party's vote has to be correspondingly disaffected in the same election, which, of course, was the case this time.

It means that Eisenhower's personal popularity far exceeded the Republican Party strength, but this should not be misconstrued as meaning a Republican Party weakness. For the Republican gains as a party in the local voting contests were so substantial as to indicate that the country is turning from the Democratic Party to the Republican Party in a trend likely to grow larger two years hence if the Republicans make a creditable record in power.

It means that the American people are disturbed about the failure of our foreign policy to assert itself among our allies to accomplish greater cooperation and that the America-go-it-alone burden of today's international situation is by no means palatable to the voters generally, who want other nations to share fully the manpower obligation. This is derived from the prominence given the so-called Korean issue in the campaign.

It means that, so far as the anti-Communist issue is concerned, the people have not been misled by the controversy over the use of extremist tactics in exposing Communists, and that voters still think that "where there's so much smoke, there must be fire."

It means that the Truman administration in general and President Truman in particular were disapproved by the electorate on enough policies and issues to lose the election for a candidate as attractive in many respects as was Governor Stevenson.

It means that businessmen will have confidence in the future and that they will not be fearful of confiscation of their property and their earnings. Socialism, which was checked first in New Zealand, then Australia, then Great Britain, now has met resistance and has been arrested in a national election in the United States. An uplift in business activity and the strengthening of business incentives may be expected.

It means that, whether Democrats or Republicans organize the Senate, the coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans will keep any one-sided legislation on labor-management or any other radical proposals from being enacted and that President Eisenhower will have a chance to develop a real era of good feeling between the executive and legislative branches of the government such as America has not witnessed since the presidency of James Monroe in the 1820's.

Reviewing objectively the tactics of the two presidential candidates in the light of successful strategy in past campaigns, historians of American politics will have to record that the winner achieved victory in spite of some glaring mistakes of commission and omission. The best thing Ike did, however, from a strategy standpoint was to make peace with the Taft faction. Without their help, he couldn't have won. Yet, inside his entourage, he was advised against the move.

Each candidate overlooked many good chances by failing to follow through sometimes when a good point was made. Eisenhower's mistakes will be forgotten, but the mistakes of Stevenson will be subject to a post-mortem review by Democratic party leaders in various states. Here are some of the mistakes of Stevenson:

1. A failure to attract the middle-income groups and small businessmen's vote—the type of individual who influences many more votes than his own. Stevenson had the labor vote in his hand—it couldn't go anywhere else—so he would have been in better shape if he had used tactics designed from the start to split the conservative vote. The Republicans were wide open to such an invasion. Instead of lambasting the Taft vote, much of it should have been wooed.

2. Failure to differentiate himself from Truman the politician and the administration's record and particularly a failure to condemn the erratic attitude of the administration on the corruption "mess." Stevenson should have outlined corrective measures in a definite program. Also, a couple of speeches denouncing political influence in modern government and how it fosters corruption would have been a big vote-getter.

3. A failure to prevent Truman from making personal attacks on Eisenhower, which undoubtedly caused many voters to assume that Stevenson approved the same kind of smear tactics.

4. Failure to select the better parts of the Truman record and emphasize them again and again. There was too much generality about "prosperity" without enough specific facts as to the improvement in the standard of living in recent years and the reasons for it as the Democrats see it.

5. A failure to condemn Alger Hiss early in the campaign and to disassociate Stevenson himself from the sniping attacks made by so-called "liberals" on the FBI and on the congressional committees investigating Communists in government. This cost Stevenson many votes among those Catholics who regard communistic philosophy as a menace, especially when so much of it is so close to radicalism and socialism.

6. A failure to lay out a constructive program on the world peace problem. Instead, Stevenson showed a kind of passiveness and complacency about the entire rearmament program and its impact on our economic life. He ignored the fact that our UN allies are not supporting us properly with manpower. An opportunity for real leadership presented itself on this issue which would have won the many Republican votes in the east that are naturally inclined toward the international rather than the isolationist side.

7. A failure to outline some basic principles of labor-management relations which would have given assurance to management that Stevenson was not going to be a captive of the CIO. For, notwithstanding his claim that he would be independent, his speech to the AFL convention was an abject surrender and really forecast that he would favor a one-sided labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stevenson made literary speeches of intellectual composition but without enough substance on the real issues. He may learn by 1956—for, even this early, it may be said that from the viewpoint of the Democratic party he is worthy of another chance.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In the closing days of the campaign the Associated Press reported from Washington that a complaint had been filed with the Post Office Department charging that Senator Joe McCarthy had misused his congressional franking privilege. A "spokesman" for the department who discussed the matter would not disclose the text of the matter complained of. There was a presumption, however, that McCarthy had sent out political propaganda under his frank.

The New York Herald Tribune gave this item prominence as legitimate news. The Herald Tribune is a deadly enemy of Joe McCarthy, one reason being that McCarthy, among others, advertised the fact that the Herald Tribune's political policy for years was laid down by Joe Barnes, its so-called "foreign" editor who has been named as a "Communist agent" by seven witnesses under oath before the McCarran senatorial subcommittee on internal security. This latter fact will account in large part for the H-T's ferocious opposition to Senator McCarran, too.

For years I have been emphasizing the activities of two secretive political societies, one of them a gum-shoe detective agency, operated out of New York by Isidore Lipschutz, a refugee who finally acquired American citizenship after long delay occasioned by specific charges of moral terpitude of an unusually nasty character. The two Lipschutz societies are the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League and the Society for the Prevention of World War III. Both organizations began under respectable auspices but were repudiated for good reasons by decent men who were original sponsors. They then fell into the hands of Lipschutz, whose personal sponsors, when his appeal for citizenship finally was heard by Federal Judge Edward Conger, included Senator James E. Murray of Montana.

I have copies of many Congressional reprints which Murray and others in Congress inserted in the Record for the convenience of the Society for the Prevention of

Woodstock Votes Heavily in Favor Of Republicans

Woodstock, Nov. 5—A record turnout of voters was reported in both the upper and lower districts of the township of Woodstock when the polls closed at 9 p. m. A total of 1,103 ballots were cast in District 1, which included 93 absentee ballots, as against 960 ballots recorded for the presidential election of 1948. In District 2 there were 610 votes against 501 cast in 1948.

Voters continued in a steady stream at the polls until about 7 p. m. when the lines began to thin out. A total of 800 of the votes in District 1 had been cast by 4 p. m.

In both districts Eisenhower and Nixon chalked up a total of 1,393 votes, while Stevenson and Sparkman trailed with a total of 338 on the Democratic ticket and 143 for the same candidates on the Liberal ticket. Republican United States Senator Ives received a total of 1,341, and Justice of the Supreme Court William Deckelman a total of 1,297. J. Ernest Wharton, running for Congressman received 1,290 votes, and Arthur H. Wicks, state senator, received a total of 1,299 votes. John Wadlin, for member of the Assembly received 1,292, and Horace Boice, running for county treasurer, received 1,289. Howard C. St. John, district attorney candidate, received 1,281, and Charles Rosenstock, for coroner, a total of 1,098.

On the Democratic ticket, John Cashmore, for U. S. senator, received 271; Russell G. Hunt, justice of Supreme Court, 345; Walter Donnaruma, Congressman, 305; William Francis Hagan, state senator, 303; John L. Schoonmaker, member of the Assembly, 361; Fred C. Harder, county treasurer, 341; Thomas J. Plunket, district attorney, 344.

Serving on the Woodstock Election Board were Richard Short, Marion Gordon, Katharine Cleveland, Gladys Feeley, inspectors; Edna DeWitt and Catharine Hommel, clerks; and Dorothy Peters, Winifred Hutty and Doris Hutty, in District 1. In District 2 the inspectors were L. Van Hoagland, William Spanhake, Sr., Genevieve Reynolds and Ethel Van Wagner, and the clerks were Olive Shultis and Betty Eichler.

Crane Exhibition To Open in New York

Woodstock, Nov. 5—An exhibition of oil paintings by Stanley W. Crane of Bearsville will open at Grand Central Art Galleries, Inc., 15 Vanderbilt avenue, New York, on Tuesday, Nov. 18.

Stanley Crane first exhibited as a professional artist at the age of 19 in the 27th Annual by Indiana Painters, Richmond, Ind., 1924. He has since exhibited in the Art Institute of Chicago, 1938; Carnegie Institute 1941, 1949; Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, 1928, 1940-42; Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond, Va., 1940. This will be Crane's second one-man exhibition at Grand Central Art Galleries.

Exhibiting in all the national art exhibitions, Stanley Crane has been awarded the $200 cash prize, Hoosier Salon, Chicago, 1928; first prize and purchase prize, Albany, Institute of Art and History, 1940; first prize in International Competition, Museum of Modern Art, 1942; Saltus Gold Medal, National Academy of Design, 1945; popular prize, Carnegie Institute, 1948; five awards for work used in national advertising.

"From about 1925 to 1934," said Crane concerning his work, "I was an extreme modern, but have since adopted the traditional and realistic type of painting as better suited to my temperament and what I wish to say. This traditional style I now follow, which its background of the modern. I have adopted it because I feel it will also help me reach a part of the public which is neglected by both the modern and the traditional painters."

Ceramics Exhibition Opens at Guild Here

Woodstock, Nov. 5—The exhibition of ceramics by the students of Mrs. Jessie Stagg of Shady, which opened last Sunday at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, reveals the versatility of the artists as well as the medium itself. Viewed as a collection in the lower gallery of the Guild the various groups of pieces are characterized by the individual interests of the artists. Mrs. Arnold, of Kingston, takes her themes, for instance, from an obvious knowledge of birds and their habitat, from an engaging pair of bird statuetes to the simply handled, yet highly effective bird bath and plaque. She has also contributed a finely modeled head of a young boy and an amusing vase using a red cabbage for the motif.

Mrs. Smith of Woodstock has created a delicate Madonna and Child in traditional blue and white glazes.

Animals have provided the inspiration for Mrs. Abbott of Saugerties, a lively green frog poised to jump and a sleekly perfect Siamese cat in rich champagne and chocolate tones.

Leaves in large and small designs form the pattern for plates and trays by Mrs. Matthews of Kingston, one in particularly large and handsome proportions.

Miss Barnard of Woodstock has chosen a unique glaze—the dull finish of "desert sand"—for several jars and vases giving them a quality of Persian pottery. She has also contributed several appealing round tiles.

Another group of vases and bowls, highly individual in design, are by Mrs. Cocuzza of Woodstock.

The exhibition will be on view at the Guild for another week.

Society to Meet

Woodstock, Nov. 5—The Woman's Missionary Society of Christ Lutheran Church will hold its annual Thank Offering meeting Sunday, Nov. 9, in the church at 7:45 p. m. The public is invited.

Two Receive Fines

Woodstock, Nov. 5—Harold Lattin of Margaretville and Richard Phillip of Woodstock were arrested Monday by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police on a charge that they failed to stop for the school bus. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace George J. Braendly at the town hall and fined $10 each.

Getting Marathon Letter

Indianapolis (AP)—Sgt. Osmon Knepper is getting a letter in Korea which will take him a long time to read. Deciding her "courtship, marriage and honeymoon were too short," Knepper's wife, Alberta, spent 33 hours and 35 minutes over an 18-day period writing a 108-fot-long letter to him. Mrs. Knepper said she averaged six feet of the letter a day. And it took $1.90 in postage to mail the letter. Just so Knepper wouldn't think his wife was forgetting him, she wrote and mailed him 16 shorter ones during the time it took to finish the long one.

Chocolate Cigars

Larchmont, N. Y. (AP) — Seven-year-old Joseph Cunningham watched his daddy buy cigars for the boys at the office by way of announcing the recent birth of a daughter, Anne Kathleen. He insisted to his father that he not be left out of the occasion. So next day young Joseph proudly distributed a box of 24 chocolate cigars to his classmates in the second grade.

As Pegler Sees It

World War III. Their purpose was to enable Lipschutz and his associates in these clandestine political operations to spare themselves the expense of postage on their propaganda. By this trick they shifted the cost of their attempt at political indoctrination from their own mysterious treasury, whose secrets are jealously kept by Lipschutz, to the American citizens whom they were trying to victimize.

Murray is an old faker whose political position is so far left that he has nowhere to go that way but into communism. He is not the only member of Congress, however, who has lent his frank to the ulterior purposes of the two Lipschutz fronts. The others include George G. Sandowski, of Michigan; Arthur G. Klein and Abraham J. Multer, of New York; John A. Blatnik, of Minnesota; Chet Holifield, of California, and A. J. Sabath, the senile old mountebank from Chicago.

In the introduction to one of his "extensions of remarks" inserted in the Record as a favor to Lipschutz, Murray asked consent, which, of course, was granted automatically, to have printed in the Record at the Taxpayers' expense an article entitled "Made in Germany" lifted from the magazine, prevent World War, III, "published by the Society for the Prevention of World War III, 515 Madison Ave., N. Y."

This was a plea for the essentials of the Morgenthau plan, which provided that all troops of western civilization be withdrawn from Germany with the obvious result that Soviet Russia would sweep all the way to French frontier and ultimately with ease to the English Channel. There, unlike the Nazi armies, the Russians would have had no hostile force at their back and would have been free to concentrate their whole power on the easy conquest of France, Italy, Spain and Britain.

Murray also inserted, in the same way for the same purposes, further propaganda from the Lipschutz magazine, entitled "The Road to Peace"; "Chinese Markets; a Big Stake", "The No. 1 Problem: Steel"; "Agricultural Reform—When?", and "Whither Western Europe?". In one of his introductions he said the society was "one of the few educational organizations in the United States whose singleness of purpose and patriotic devotion to the security and best interests of the United States deserves the gratitude of all security-minded Americans."

Sadowski unblushingly promoted the Lipschutz Line in an attack on Herbert Hoover and inserted an article from the Lipschutz magazine entitled "Germany Two Years Later." This was Franked out of the Society's New York office in quantity as, indeed, all the others were. Other titles of Sadowski's propaganda sent in bundles to the Society's New York office with the Franked envelopes ready to be addressed by the Lipschutz office staff were "Rebuilding Germany for World War III?"; "Our Policy in Japan and Germany"; and "Our Reparations Experts."

Sabath also attacked Hoover's appeal for humane treatment of hungry, helpless German civilians, including children, and inserted a handout from his friend Lipschutz describing the Society as "an organization composed of Americans with patriotic devotion to the best interests of America."

The Franks were dumped into the Society's New York office for no other purpose than to permit Lipschutz to save money at the expense of the taxpayers on propaganda in favor of a course which would have prevented the formation of a strong front against Soviet Russia.

The legend on each of these envelopes is either "Public Document, Free" or "Part of Congressional Record: Free."

Lipschutz employs an office manager named James H. Sheldon, sometimes known as "professor," who maintains political headquarters in Boston. He was a close associate there of the late David K. Niles, the White House contact of the Frankfurter machine, and for years has had the run of the office of Congressman John W. McCormack, the House majority leader. By means of this influence with Niles and McCormack, Sheldon was able to head off an investigation of Lipschutz himself, the society and the anti-Nazi League by the late Buchanan Committee of the House which investigated "lobbying" and obtained criminal convictions of two pro-American propagandists who refused to reveal the names of the individual who subscribed to their funds. The Buchanan Committee never did investigate either of the Lipschutz fronts.

There is a vast amount of information on hand which would plainly prove that both of these weird private power-houses had close relations with other organized forces of moral and political terrorism some of which now suddenly have switched to a clamorous line of anti-communism for transparent purposes of deception after plugging Communist interests for years.

Espionage via Fishing Boat

Tokyo (AP)—Police suspect that Japanese Communists are using fishing boats and meeting Russian warships off Northern Japan to smuggle information and agents in and out of Japan. They have seized some boats and made a few arrests, but they report the traffic is hard to stop. The boats ply among the clusters of small Russian-held islands off Hokkaido.

Firemen to Ask $500 for Helmets, Boots, Fire Gear

A committee of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association of Kingston will petition the city fire board and the mayor's budget committee for an appropriation of $500 for boots, helmets, turnout coats and badges, it was announced today by Raymond W. Radel, secretary.

The committee will request that the item be included in the 1953 budget, Radel stated, pointing out that last year such a request had been approved and equipment purchased and distributed by the fire chief and commissioners to the companies which needed it most.

Radel said it was felt that a "standing appropriation" should be made each year. Although this year's quota has already been distributed, he said, "we are still badly in need of much more equipment."

Addressing the recent meeting of the association, at which time the committee was appointed, Peter Keresman, a member of the association, said, "The volunteer fireman is the least thought of person in the eyes of the public. He goes about his work without any pats on the back or a flower in his lapel for what he has done. He knows he has a job to do and he does it without bragging or complaining, although he does not receive a penny for it. If it weren't for the volunteer fireman in cities and villages the fire insurance rate would be doubled. Although I am not the fireman I should be because my work takes me away from home a lot, I take my hat off to you men and all the volunteer firemen for the services they perform without compensation."

Taft Sees No Move

tion to Eisenhower but then toured the country urging Eisenhower's election, said "the tremendous majority given General Eisenhower shows the determination of the people to restore a government believing in American principles of liberty as opposed to the growing bureaucracy, spending and taxation of the so-called Fair Deal. That feeling was intensified by the resentment against the corruption in the Truman administration and the procommunist foreign policy which built up Russia and brought about the Korean War."

Taft indicated he would stay in his present position as head of the vital Senate Republican Policy Committee in cooperating with Eisenhower and the new Republican administration.

Sees No Reason to Change

Asked if the President-elect might want him for a cabinet post, or that he might become Senate Majority Floor Leader, Taft said:

"I see no reason to change. As a matter of fact, that seems to be General Eisenhower's idea also. When he came to see me immediately after the nomination in Chicago, for instance, it was to ask my cooperation as leader in the senate, not in the campaign."

The senior senator was asked about the program for the new congress and replied, "that will be Eisenhower's."

He agreed, however, he and Eisenhower were in accord that the Republican goal should be a reduction of the budget to 70 billion dollars. Also that the budget be cut to 60 billion dollars in 1955.

Taft suggested a quick survey of federal personnel might be in order as a first step in the Washington clean-out he expects.

Shares in Aunt's Estate

New York, Nov. 6 (Special)—George Schlemme, of Wallkill, will receive one-seventh of the estate of his aunt, the late Miss Sophia M. Schlemme of New York. This was learned Wednesday when her will was offered for probate in Surrogate's Court here. The balance of her estate, of an undetermined value pending an appraisal, will be distributed among other nieces and nephews. Miss Schlemme, who lived at 455 West 23rd street, New York, died in St. Barnabas Hospital here last October 31st.

Chavez Beats Hurley

Albuquerque, Nov. 6 (AP)—Democratic Senator Dennis Chavez has won reelection over Republican challenger Patrick J. Hurley for the second straight time. But the result may not become official for weeks. Chavez, head of the Senate Public Works Committee, led 121,563 to 117,018 in the unofficial count with all but 13 of the state's 894 divisions reported. Declining to concede, Hurley, former secretary of war and at one time ambassador to China, had ballot boxes in four northern counties impounded. The counties gave Chavez about 2,700 votes of his lead. It may be weeks before the ballots are checked and released by the state canvassing board.

WGB Is Awarded

persons in its own plant at the corner of Cornell street and Ten Broeck avenue, where the products are assembled. Counting employes in firms that contract to make the cans, bags, and other materials which go into the product, about 700 persons are involved in the operation.

The sales force is not included in the figures, Burhans explained, because all the salesmen operate as individuals, doing business for themselves.

The company was born in 1931 when W G. Burhans—then an employe of the Columbia Shirt Company—decided to devote full time to producing the oil filters he had invented and made for himself and a few friends.

The idea came to him several years earlier, Burhans says, that some means should be devised so that automobile owners could "throw away the dirt and keep the oil." Under then existing methods, he recalls, the practice was to "keep the dirt and throw away the oil."

The result was a filter with a replaceable cartridge. The original model was patented in 1927.

Incorporating in 1931, the firm began its operations in a little shop on Broadway with about three employes. Later, it moved to a location on Greenkill avenue, where it remained until four years ago. To take care of its growing business, however, it was necessary to rent floor space in several places, including the lower floor of the building in which it is now located.

Four years ago, the present building was purchased and the entire building taken over. The firm is still outgrowing its quarters, Burhans revealed, has had to build an addition and still needs more room for the stock it needs to keep on hand.

The firm uses the name Clarofier to identify its products. The mispelling is intentional, in order to use it as a trade mark. The name, Clarifier, however, is retained in the firm's corporate name.

WGB is the originator of its product, Burhans claims, and a number of the other well known manufacturers of oil filters grew up directly from men who at one time worked with Burhans.

Today, Burhans is joined in the corporation by his son, Hollis N. Burhans, who is vice president, and daughter, Bernice L. Burhans, secretary.

Fitzpatrick Quits

later than Dec. 1 to elect a new chairman."

Yesterday he notified state committee members and county chairman of his plan to make public the statement today.

In the election which preceded Fitzpatrick's announcement U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives swamped Democrat John Cashmore of Brooklyn by more than 1,277,000 votes. The Republicans also picked up congressional and legislative seats to strengthen their control.

Tuesday's crusher spelled the end.

Born in Buffalo

Fitzpatrick was born in Buffalo, Sept. 25, 1897. He became a Democratic committeeman in Erie county soon after casting his first vote. In 1939, he was elected county chairman, a post his father, the late W. H. Fitzpatrick, had held for many years.

The younger Fitzpatrick was elected chairman of the Democratic State Committee in July, 1944, following the resignation of James A. Farley. Fitzpatrick helped elect Franklin Delano Roosevelt to his fourth presidential term.

After serving in the Navy Air Force during World War 1 and receiving a civil engineering degree from Cornell University in 1920, Fitzpatrick joined his father's real estate firm.

Outlook Is Poor For Opening Woods

Albany, Nov. 6 (AP)—The State Conservation Department said today "the weather doesn't give us too much comfort" on the possibility of opening New York's thirsty forests to the public.

Gov. Dewey closed the forests and suspended the hunting season at midnight last Sunday because of generally dry conditions and the danger of forest fires.

A Conservation Department spokesman said he "hoped" that rain would wet down the forests soon. The best possibility of this he said, was some rain reported over Texas.

Conquered Fires

Six new fires were reported in the state woodlands yesterday, but the department said today "none was serious and they are all out." There were two each in Westchester and Chautauqua counties, one in Franklin county and one in Ulster county.

Conservation personnel were patrolling the scenes of 10 areas where fires have been extinguished. They were mostly in the western and southern parts of the state.

"The actual fire situation is not serious at all at the present time," the department spokesman said. "What is serious is what might happen."

Fire Brings Smiles

Bedford, Ind. (AP) — Nobody knows who started it, but for years a common practical joke here has been an excited announcement that the courthouse is on fire. So, when Bob Abel dashed into the Bedford National Bank and shouted, "The courthouse is on fire, call the fire department!" everybody just grinned. It really was on fire—fortunately, just some tar on the roof.

Garage Fire

Firemen were called at 6:20 p. m., yesterday to quench a fire under the floor of a three-car garage owned by Fred Dressel at 15-17 Brown avenue. The blaze, which firemen said, apparently started in some rubbish, caused slight damage.

BUNTING HUNTING—Although the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II is many months away, preparations go forward every day. Here workmen suspend a banner from a lamp post opposite London's St. Pancreas Hall. Similar decorations were put up elsewhere in the area, after which officials looked them all over and chose the "official" banner for the event.

Saugerties Post Has Float Photo As Magazine Cover

The Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post, No. 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has the distinction of having reproduced on the November cover of the VFW "National Bulletin," a picture of the auxiliary's float which was in the Fourth of July parade in Saugerties the past summer.

The float won a $50 first prize. Marie M. McCutcheon, conductress of the Post, submitted the picture to the national publication for use by the magazine and it was selected as a cover picture.

In a letter to the Post from Miss Laura M. Bartholemaues, editor of the National Bulletin, she compliments the Saugerties VFW Auxiliary for its progressiveness and its participation in the village hospital service, rehabilitation, blood bank and community service programs. The picture shows the officers of the post and the chairmen of the services together with representatives of the two Boy Scout troops which the auxiliary sponsors.

Host Finds Reward

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Because he was giving an oyster supper for the chairman of the licensing court, Graham Ward went to the trouble of having some special oysters flown in from a coast town 60 miles away. While eating Ward felt something hard in his mouth. Sure enough it was a pearl, a quarter-inch in diameter which experts later assessed as being of considerable value.

The heart's action is explained with the aid of special lighting, sound effects, and the use of vivid coloring on the surfaces of the model.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—A quiet decline set the stock market back moderately today.

There was no particular selling pressure as prices backed down fractions to between 1 and 2 points. On the upside of the market, plus signs were almost entirely smaller fractions.

Not a single major division escaped selling inroads on the fall. Small isolated advances were seen in motors, utilities, rubbers, radio-televisions and chemicals. These were not great enough, however, to turn the tide.

Volume was well down from yesterday's 2,030,000 shares. It ran at a rate of around a million and a quarter shares for the entire day.

Seaboard Railroad, which yesterday fell a sharp 5 points, was up today between 1 and 2 points on a few sales. U. S. Gypsum was another stock well outside the average range with a gain that got to as much as 2 points at times.

Lower stocks included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Distillers Corp., Zenith Radio, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, duPont, American Woolen, Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Standard Oil (NJ), and United Air Lines.

Curb exchange stocks were mostly lower. Heading down were Beckman Instrument, Central Explorers Ltd., Consolidated Mining, Creole Petroleum, Eastern Gas & Fuel, Humble Oil, Imperial Oil, and Pancoastal Oil. Higher were Air Associates and Standard Power & Light.

Eisenhower Takes

government. In this way our own conference can achieve maximum results. I share your hope that we may present to the world an American unity in basic issues.

"Respectfully Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Has Golf Date

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower began a 10-day vacation today with a date for golf—a very late date.

The President-elect put aside for a moment numerous pressing problems. His plans for the day included nothing but an afternoon round of golf at the National Golf Club where he is staying and his schedule so far embraces more of the same plus some fishing and the complete rest he has not known in months.

Eisenhower flew here from New York yesterday afternoon.

Two communications from President Truman were addressed to him and he replied immediately to one of them. Aides said he is drafting an answer to the second.

Truman proposed an early discussion at the White House on the problem of world peace. In the earlier message he reminded Eisenhower that the next national budget is being prepared and suggested that Eisenhower have a representative confer with the director of the budget.

The general replied before leaving New York: "I shall try to arrange within the next two or three days to have a personal representative to sit with the director."

He gave no indication of whom he will choose for that assignment.

Might Pick Douglas

There has been some speculation that he might ask his friend Lewis Douglas of Arizona to represent him. Douglas formerly served as director of the budget. He also served a term as ambassador to Great Britain.

Eisenhower's staff officers were silent on the President's second proposal for a discussion on peace problems. There was no indication in Truman's statements about specific aspects of the question that might be examined.

Eisenhower's personal idea for a beginning is to go to Korea himself to study the situation there and search for a solution.

He put this in the form of a pledge during his campaign and repeated it several times. He told Truman yesterday that he intends to notify "the secretary of defense the earliest possible notice of my proposed date of departure."

Simply Taking It Easy

Meanwhile, the general is simply taking it easy.

He has "Mamie" with him at the golf club. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower and her three children, Dwight David, 4, Barbara Anne, 3, and Susan, 9 months, and Mrs. J. S. Doud, his mother-in-law, are also here.

There are some new members of his entourage too.

Secret service agents who are now charged with the responsibility for his safety moved in on the golf course before Eisenhower and his family even arrived. Other agents were on hand in New York almost as soon as his election was confirmed. Some rode with him on the flight to Georgia.

They are seldom obviously around—until you try to pass through the gates of the clubhouse grounds.

Met at Airport

Eisenhower's arrival in Augusta was a carbon copy of the hundreds of appearances he made while he was fighting for the presidency. About 1500 persons were at the airport and they gave him a warm cheer when he appeared in the door of the plane.

And old friend, Brig. Gen. Frank Allen, was waiting at the bottom of the ramp. Allen served as Eisenhower's chief of public relations in Europe in the closing months of World War 2.

Eisenhower shook hands all around with the same warmth he showed during the campaign, waved at the crowd, and went immediately to the motorcade waiting to take him to the golf club.

Crowds lined the streets along the 15 mile route. The warmth of their greeting matched some of his best receptions.

The Council will meet next Monday at 10 a. m., as a board of canvassers for the recent election and the regular November meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m., the same day.

Project Is Rejected

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The United States today rejected a Soviet protest against creation of a sea defense zone in Korea waters. A State Department spokesman called the complaint a Red attempt "to deceive people."

Harriman to Quit

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, mutual security director said today he plans to return to his New York home when the Eisenhower administration takes over Jan. 20. Harriman talked with reporters at the White House after a 15-minute meeting with President Truman. He said his visit with Truman was a strictly business conference.

Try a Cranberry Angel Cake

BRIGHT, SHINY CRANBERRIES and peppermint extract give an air of holiday gayety to this delicious Angel Food cake.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Cranberries for Thanksgiving, of course. But just for a new and colorful slant, serve them up in a light and beautiful peppermint-flavored angel cake.

Cranberry Mint Angel Cake

One and one-fourth cups fresh cranberries, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract, 1 package Angel Food cake mix, butter icing, 3 to 4 drops additional peppermint extract (optional), 2 tablespoons light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons fresh cranberries, cut in half.

Force cranberries through food chopper using coarse blade. Add sugar and allow to stand 10 minutes. In the meantime, prepare cake mix according to instructions on the package. Stir in the chopped berries and peppermint extract. Bake according to package instructions.

To ice cake, prepare butter icing according to your favorite recipe and add peppermint extract, corn syrup and cut cranberries.

Cranberries can be made into a sherbet for one of the old-fashioned touches to a meal that are always good.

Cranberry Sherbet
(For Fowl or Meat—1 Quart)

Four cups fresh cranberries, 2¾ cups water, 2 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon gelatin (1 envelope), ¼ cup cold water, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, juice and grated rind of 1 orange.

Shoe Prices Stable

New York (AP)—Stability of shoe prices in comparison with price movements of hides, skins and leather has been stressed by the National Shoe Manufacturers Association. The wholesale price index of hides and skins moved from 94.3 in June, 1950 to 140.9 in January, 1951, the association said. Between then and April, 1952, the index fell back to 49.7. During this period, the wholesale price of footwear fluctuated comparatively little. From June, 1950, to April 1951, the low was 102.7 and the high was 123.1. In April, 1952, the index remained at 113.6.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

When you read this you will know who is the new President, but as I write the returns are not in.

So we shall not discuss the election, but it might be worthwhile to give some thought to the "morning after" regardless of the outcome.

There will be millions who will feel let down for a time, but it will not be long before we are confronted with the problem that President Truman is a holdover, and we'll all be wondering what the new man will have to say about the critical problems of the world.

If the Democrats win, Mr. Truman can carry on his cocky manner and set the stage about as he sees fit for the advent of Governor Stevenson. If General Eisenhower comes out on top, it is, I think, impossible to guess at Truman's probable actions.

There are some observers who feel that the President will make decisions between now and January which will put the General on the spot if he doesn't carry them out. The Ruminator thinks this may be an idea we can be contrary to, because Harry S. Truman, citizen, has a raging ambition to remain a big man in the world and he is likely, I should suppose, to play his cards in such fashion that he won't be blamed for wrecking the existing set-up. You remember how Roosevelt refused to co-operate with outgoing Hoover. Practically every historical survey of the early 1930's carries this black mark against Franklin Roosevelt, and as time goes on it will be pretty definitely established that his failure to cooperate with Mr. Hoover made the "banking panic" much worse than it needed to have been.

Truman the campaigner is one person, and Harry S. Truman ex-President may be quite another character. I do not mean to suggest that Mr. Truman will change his stripes; but that he may act more dignifiedly simply because it is to his own interest to cover over the shocking manner in which he campaigned.

Turning back to Stevenson again, if he is elected we may learn, as a contrary friend suggests, that he is not nearly so far over on the "left" as he has appeared lately. This friend thinks his leftist attitude has been to get votes from the liberals and left-wingers. The Ruminator cannot quite agree with this, because of the left-wing associates he is evidently so fond of. However, a Princeton classmate of Stevenson's tells me that the Governor was thought to be a "good egg" in college and gave no indications of being a radical. Time will tell, of course, although this Vermont realistic reactionary prays that we shall not have to learn anything at all about Mr. Stevenson; that he will remain Governor of Illinois.

The sobering morning-after problems, aside from personalities, will largely arise from abroad: both east and west.

Decisions will have to be made concerning Korea, because General Eisenhower has made it a major issue. Public opinion will insist that "something be done about Korea," regardless who is elected.

But perhaps the real shocks will come from western Europe. All during the campaign the problems have been left in abeyance. They will pop open suddenly.

Not only is western Europe facing a probable trade crisis and slump, but also very delicate questions concerning NATO, the western European Defense Community, the Saar, and other touchy international problems, will come to the fore. Prominent statesmen, such as Eden of Great Britain and Schuman of France, have delayed their arrival at the United Nations meetings in order to avoid being drawn into our election campaigns.

I think that just as soon as the post-election chatter has subsided you will find your news loaded with international issues of tremendous significance.

It is almost safe to venture the prediction that even if Eisenhower is elected, the "celebration" from a business and market standpoint will be short-lived.

Any change in administration, after 20 years of New Dealism, will profoundly unsettle sentiment. It should not be lost sight of that any trend toward conservatism is not an immediate stimulant to business, inflation, and markets. If a Republican President is elected, the Congress will be controlled by conservative elements, with important Republican chairmanships. (As a matter of fact, Congress will be rather conservative if Stevenson wins, because of the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.)

So we shall have a momentary let-down and then a whole new set of critical questions to take up our minds, many of them doubtless both worrisome and sobering.

Eisenhower to . . .

cupying some of the President-elects' time as he golfed and fished at Augusta, Ga.

It was cabinet picking time—the first for any Republican in 24 years—and Eisenhower had a lot of people to consider. During a Chicago stop in the campaign Sept. 5 he said "I will search for merit wherever it is." That was in reply from a Negro office-seeker's question as to whether he would appoint a Negro to the cabinet.

Among cabinet prospects could be listed Govs. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Earl Warren of California, Edward F. Arn of Kansas, Dan Thornton of Colorado, Sens. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., defeated for re-election in Massachusetts, Frank Carlson of Kansas, Fred Seaton of Nebraska, James Duff of Pennsylvania; John Foster Dulles, former State Department adviser; Paul G. Hoffman, former Marshall Plan director; retired Gen. Lucius Clay and GOP National Chairman Arthur Summerfield.

Summerfield said he wants to go back to his automobile business in Michigan and Lodge said he would spurn a cabinet post in favor of going back into the newspaper business. He formerly was a reporter.

Might Name Woman

Eisenhower has talked about putting a woman in the cabinet and Oveta Culp Hobby, co-publisher of the Houston, Tex., Post and Mary Lord, co-chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, have been mentioned in this connection.

Eisenhower had an invitation—yet to be acted upon—to sit down with President Truman at the White House for consultations which as Truman put it, would demonstrate to the world that "our people are united in the struggle for freedom and peace."

Although his last predecessor in the change of administrations, Franklin D. Roosevelt, rejected such an offer from outgoing President Herbert Hoover, there were indications that Eisenhower may take Truman up on his invitation before the end of the year.

Truman offered the general his White House plane for the trip to Korea, but Eisenhower said in effect he would rather ride in a regular air force transport.

Truman's Views

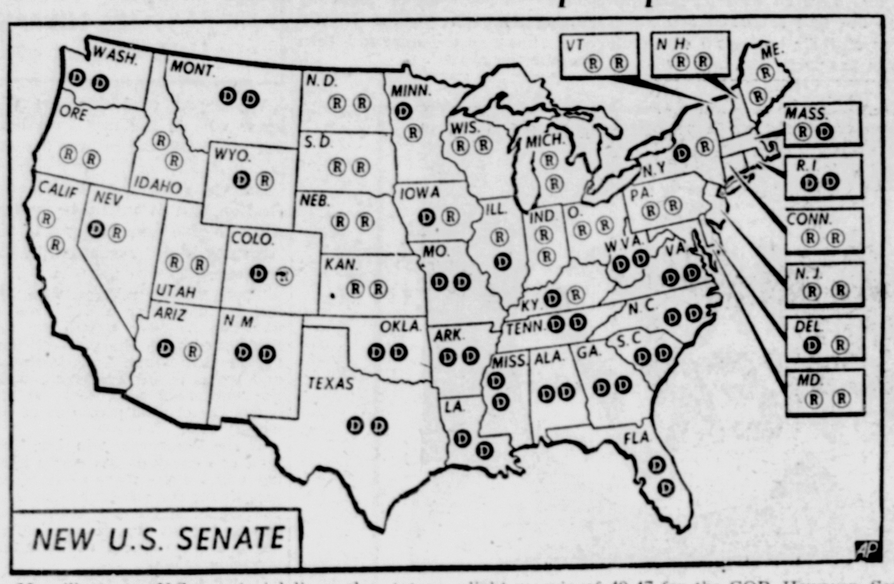
Truman said the President-elect faces some weighty problems, adding that Eisenhower's decision may determine whether we shall have a third world war—and, indeed, whether we shall survive as a free and democratic nation."

Truman held what might otherwise have been described as a wake in his office after handing out the statement inviting Eisenhower to meet with him.

One of the presidential visitors was Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who thanked those who had worked for the defeated Stevenson and his running mate, Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama.

Mitchell promised that "the Democratic party in its new role of opposition will conduct itself with the honesty, fairness and responsibility to the public welfare which marked the campaign of Governor Stevenson and Senator Sparkman."

How New Senate Shapes Up



Map illustrates U.S. senatorial lineup by states as the result of the presidential year elections. In the 35 seats up for election or reelection, the Republicans won 23 and the Democrats 12 to create a slight margin of 49-47 for the GOP. However, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, listed as a Republican, is a self-styled independent after bolting the party to support Adlai Stevenson, and could split the Senate power by voting with the Democrats.

Congressman Dies

what bills will come up for floor action.

Championed Benefits

He was a prime figure in "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" legislation—author of a workman's compensation act, sponsor of the first old age pension plan, champion of social security benefits and the eight-hour work day.

Death came at Bethesda Naval Hospital as a result of complications from a major operation last June. He entered the hospital several days ago—and was seriously ill when he won a two-to-one victory at the polls Tuesday.

A special election must be held to name a successor.

Stevenson in '56

presidential campaign manager, told reporters yesterday that he and others in the governor's headquarters had discussed the future with Stevenson and he added:

"Our feeling is definitely that it will be Adlai Stevenson in 1956."

Wyatt wryly conceded that he and others in the Stevenson command had underestimated the political appeal of Eisenhower. Wyatt had predicted a Stevenson victory by at least 400 electoral votes.

The latest count showed Eisenhower with 442 electoral votes and Stevenson with only 89.

The Stevenson command still was trying to put together an analysis of just what had happened in Tuesday's election—and what were the reasons for the Stevenson defeat.

Couldn't Stop Trend

Wyatt told a news conference that the Republican theme of "time for a change" had snowballed into such proportions that no one could have stopped the trend.

He said that even before the campaign started, he and others had recognized that the time-for-a-change argument of the GOP was the greatest obstacle they had to overcome. And he said even at that early date they felt it was the decisive issue.

"There always had been the possibility that this current was running strongly," Wyatt said. "If the current was there, we knew we couldn't win. But if it wasn't running strongly, then there was always the chance of a Democratic victory."

State Department

tical appointees including such ambassadors as Richard C. Patterson Jr. in Switzerland, Charles Ulrich Bay in Norway, Walter S. Gifford in Britain, William O'Dwyer in Mexico, and Pete Jarman in Australia.

Eisenhower also may weed out some career foreign service officers who for one reason or another have outlived their usefulness or may want to be relieved of their duties.

The big mystery in the department is what will happen to two career diplomats who have been repeatedly assailed by various Republicans in Congress including Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

They are John Paton Davies, now attached to the U. S. diplomatic staff in Germany, and John Carter Vincent, diplomatic agent and minister in Tangier. Both men were identified with China policy prior to the loss of China to the Communist.

Both have been repeatedly investigated by the State Department's Loyalty and Security Board. Both have their clearances pending for review before the Civil Service Commission Loyalty Review Board. The department has defended both men as patriotic servants of the American Government but the blasts against them have continued although Eisenhower himself has said nothing against them.

State Department employes total many thousands. The Eisenhower housecleaning is not expected to touch the overwhelming majority. Its weight will fall rather on the few men at the top who make the policy decisions.

In spite of today's soaring food prices, you can still

Hold family food bills down and eat better than before

You can add greater variety and more wholesome nourishment to your family's diet when you know these simple facts about low-cost My-T-Fine puddings

PERHAPS you have overlooked one of the simplest ways to help solve the problem of how to serve your family plenty of the right kind of delicious meals they need and still stay within your grocery budget.

You can, simply by making more use of one of today's most popular kinds of food products... one that is not only inexpensive in itself, but will also save you precious time in the kitchen, and be welcomed at the dinner table, too!

This product is My-T-Fine, the popular easy-to-prepare dessert.

Supplies seven vital food elements at low cost

The reason My-T-Fine can be so helpful is that it is not only a delicious dessert but a highly nourishing food as well. In fact, My-T-Fine puddings are one of the lowest-cost sources of the seven vital food elements that practically everyone needs in his diet. Growing children especially need the energy and body-building ingredients found in My-T-Fine made with milk . . . and young and old alike agree that My-T-Fine tastes wonderful any way you serve it.

So helpful in budget meal planning

How many times have you been faced with this problem? You are trying to stretch a little meat to feed your family. You can add bulk and flavor to the dish with potatoes, or dumplings, or vegetables, or lots of rice and gravy... but you still won't be giving your family all the food elements they need for good health. What else can you do to make the meal a really nutritious one? The answer is: serve My-T-Fine. It's inexpensive. It tastes good. And, best of all, My-T-Fine helps you get more protein, vitamins and minerals into the meal and into your family.

THESE ARE THE SEVEN VITAL FOOD ELEMENTS IN EVERY SERVING OF MY-T-FINE MADE WITH MILK!

- HIGH-QUALITY PROTEIN for building body cells
- QUICK-ENERGY FOOD for extra pep and vitality
- CALCIUM for strong teeth and bones
- PHOSPHORUS for cell growth
- VITAMIN B_1 for good appetite
- VITAMIN B_2 for normal growth
- VITAMIN A for good skin tone

Remember, My-T-Fine is an important food—one you can use frequently to replace other basic foods which do not offer the same advantages of variety in your meal planning.

The fact that My-T-Fine costs only a few pennies a portion will help your food budget another way. For example, you can use the money you save by serving My-T-Fine instead of an expensive dessert to buy other food items that will make your meals more attractive and more complete.

So easy to prepare

Nothing could be easier to prepare than delicious My-T-Fine puddings. You simply add milk, cook, cool and serve...the whole operation takes only minutes...and each package of My-T-Fine makes four big servings.

Hearing Is Adjourned

The hearing of Raymond Sparling, 34, of Wappingers Falls on a charge of driving while intoxicated was adjourned until Nov. 19 when the case came up Wednesday before Justice of the Peace W. J. Upright of the town of Lloyd. Sparling was arrested Monday night by state police after a reported two-car accident in Highland.

Volunteer Spotters Will Be Sought in One-Day Campaign

An intensive one-day campaign to enlist volunteer spotters will be conducted in Kingston on Friday.

Mrs. George Dewey Logan, supervisor of the local ground observers' post, was notified today that James McCulloch of the state Civil Defense Administration, and two Air Force men from the White Plains Filter Center will be in this city on Friday "ringing doorbells for the purpose of enlisting volunteers in the Ground Observer Corps operation Skywatch."

The volunteers enlisted will serve in the local post atop the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A meeting of all those who sign up has been scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Friday in the city court room of the city hall. The official Air Defense film will be shown, a a short period of instruction will be given, and Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Barbara Matthews, chief observer, will be present to enroll the new volunteers and assign hours of duty.

Persons not contacted during the day but who wish to volunteer will also be welcome to attend the meeting, Mrs. Logan said.

Kingston's spotting post has been operating continuously night and day since July 14. A minimum of 30 additional volunteers is needed to maintain this 24-hour schedule, Mrs. Logan revealed today.

Theft Is Reported

New York, Nov. 6 (AP) — Mrs. Marjorie Brenner reported to police today the theft of jewels worth $40,000 and a mink stole valued at $2,500 from her apartment. Mrs. Brenner said she discovered the theft when she returned to her apartment at 44 East 67th street after visiting friends. The burglars emptied a jewel box and pried the lid off a chest of drawers containing a secret compartment where two other jewel boxes were kept. Police believed the thieves entered the apartment by using a piece of celluloid to open the snap lock.

Ex-French Minister Dies

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP) — Count Charles de Chambrun, French minister and charge d'affaires in Washington from 1921 to 1923, died in Paris today at the age of 66. He was a descendant of General Lafayette.

NUTTY CRIME WAVE—Nick Kabousis, 63, has operated a peanut cart in New York for 15 years, and for 15 years has been the victim of petty thievery. Nick, who is blind, often hears the thieves, but has never been able to apprehend them. The camera caught the culprit, left, red-footed, and Nick is giving the thief a stern lecture on the evils of crime, even if the theft is just "peanuts."

Patrolmen Bidding For 40-Hour Week

Patrolmen Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said today the organization has been considering a bid to establish a 40-hour work week here for members of the police department.

Conferences have been held with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk for discussion of the proposal, Schoonmaker said, and another is scheduled to be held Nov. 15.

Police forces in both Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, Schoonmaker said are now on a 40-hour week. The Poughkeepsie department changed from a 44-hour week.

Salaries Compared

The salary for patrolmen in Poughkeepsie is $3,990 and in Newburgh when the 40-hour week went into effect the salary went from $3,600 a year to $3,750 last August.

The salary for local patrolmen is $3,430 and a bid for a pay boost is to be made with that requesting a 40-hour work week schedule. Members of the local police department are now on a 48-hour week schedule.

Revolt Is Reported

Taipeh, Formosa, Nov. 6 (AP)—Nationalist sources said today 21,000 Chinese revolted against the mainland Reds six weeks ago, temporarily captured three towns, killed 3,000 Communists and burned 1,000 homes. The report came from Tatao News Agency, which operates under the ministry of interior. The agency said the revolt, in northwest China, was the biggest since the Reds overran the country in 1949. Red reinforcements rushed to the area and recaptured the towns.

Hearing Is Adjourned

Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of the town of Wawarsing on Wednesday adjourned until Nov. 11 the hearing of Samuel Wolfson, 64, of Oak Ridge, Ellenville, on a charge of violating Section 100 of the ABC law. Wolfson was arrested on Monday by state police of the Ellenville station who accused him of selling alcoholic beverages without a license.

Dogs have scaled walls as high as 12 feet, three inches.

Allan Potts, 49, Dies While Skating

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Allan Potts, 49, one-time Olympic ice skater, died of a heart attack last night while skating at the city rink at Flushing Meadow Park, Queens.

Potts was a member of the 1936 U. S. Winter Olmypics Speed Skating Team that competed in the games at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

On Jan. 18, 1936, while the team was training at Oslo, Norway, he was credited with a world record of 42.4 seconds in the 500 meters. In the actual Olympic competition on Lake Riesseree, he finished in a tie for sixth place with a time of 44.8 seconds for the 500 meters. Potts also competed in the 1,500 meters, finishing 32nd with a time of 2:31.2.

He won the Middle Atlantic Speed Skating Title in 1931, 1934 and 1935 in the competition at Newburgh, N. Y.

Potts, who lived at 62-19 Alderton street, Rego Park, Queens, recently was part owner of a gasoline service station at Elmhurst, Queens.

44 Injured in Collision

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Forty-four persons suffered minor injuries last night after brake trouble on a Brooklyn subway train led to the uncoupling of the last three cars which rolled back 100 feet to strike another train halted by the delay, police said. Twenty of the subway riders were treated at Greenpoint Hospital and sent home, police said, adding that the others were treated at the station platform near where the accident occurred.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

This Bid Justified By Careful Playing

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Perhaps the slam contract in today's hand was too ambitious. Nevertheless, it is difficult to find fault with South's jump to six hearts. North would not go to five clubs without some strength, and there would be a play for a slam if North had as little as both black kings.

South justified his ambitious bidding by careful play. After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, South thought deeply about the best way to bring in twelve tricks.

An optimist might draw trumps and try to cash the entire spade suit. With the spades breaking badly, however, South would have to fall back on a single club finesse, and he would wind up losing two club tricks.

The actual declarer drew three rounds of trumps, discarding a diamond from dummy. East likewise discarded a diamond.

South now led the nine of spades from his hand and overtook with dummy's ten of spades! This play gave East a problem immediately. He finally judged the situation correctly and decided that South would have twelve ice-cold tricks if he (East) won this trick with the jack of spades.

This was quite accurate. South would win any return and overtake the queen of spades in dummy to discard three clubs on dummy's remaining spades.

When East refused to win the spade trick with his jack, South realized that East had made a fine play in order to stop the spades from becoming established. He therefore led a club from dummy and finessed the jack from his own hand.

West won with the queen of clubs and returned a spade. Declarer carefully won in dummy with the king of spades and cashed the ace of spades in order to discard the deuce of clubs. As South had expected, the spades did not break; and he therefore fell back on a second club finesse. When the ten of clubs held the next trick, South's slam contract was home.

Embassy Bar Is Installed at Elks'

The bar and some of the fixtures formerly in the Ruzzo Bowlatorium building on Grand street have been purchased by Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks, it was revealed today by Francis J. McCardle, exalted ruler.

The items are being installed in the grill room of the Elks' home at 264 Fair street. Plans are now being made for a re-opening celebration of the room by the lodge when the renovations are completed, possibly on Nov. 22. Termed a "vast improvement" by lodge members, it will be the first major renovation of the room in a number of years.

The articles purchased by the Elks lodge were a part of the attractively furnished dining room of the Bowlatorium which had been operated under the name of The Embassy. The Bowlatorium was sold on April 21 of this year to the 23-27 Grand Street Corporation, Inc., and was closed shortly after the end of the New York State Bowling Tournament which was in progress there at the time.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received a long story from Lisbon, Ia., who signed himself "Old Timer." As a rule I do not use any items in this column which are unsigned unless they are newspaper clippings or otherwise printed and dated material. He does give his post office box which is No. 274, Lisbon, Ia. His three page letter covers the firemen's convention, held in Rosendale July 4, 1909. He describes the very hot day of the parade, and how in those days the firemen carried "big horns filled with flowers, and also helmets in the crook of their arms. Their dress parade uniform consisted of Prince Albert swallow tailed coats, red shirt and white gloves." The day was hot, and everyone who owned a horse and some sort of vehicle from near and far had collected in Rosendale.

He further goes on to say, "All fire companies in those days had their own 'Parade Cart' or wagon with a big glass body for reel for the hose, that looked a little like the old stage coach. This was drawn by an honor guard of from 6 to 8 firemen who walked in a row on each side and pulled the cart by white ropes." This honor guard always wore white gloves. An impressive sight. The name of each company was painted in fancy letters on the reel. Sometimes they even mounted a "Queen" on top to give the parade a glamorous touch. Also when the 'boys' went together they used to think up some pranks worth remembering. He mentioned several. But as I mentioned above the letter being unsigned that is all I can use of it. Perhaps old timers from Rosendale can tell me more about that July 4, 1909 firemen's parade.

I read with interest the other day about Luman Freer, the Rifton resident who at the age of 96, was to cast his 76th ballot. I see, his son, Will reads this column. I bet they both could tell me plenty, that as yet has never reached print. The old canal days, I think were the most picturesque. Of course, when the Esopus creek, Rondout creek and our part of the Hudson were full of boats, coming and going, there was really something to talk about. I am glad that in my life here in Rondout, I had a chance to see at least part of the excitement on the creek. The Mary Powell was a familiar sight to me. I remember when the man from the Mansion House would be at the boat slip and sing out with his deep voice, "Mansion House! Mansion House!" as the people were coming down the gang-plank with their baggage.

In years to come perhaps the Skillypot will be revived in some fashion, historically or otherwise. Plenty times I traveled in all kinds of weather across it with my late father. The cabins were warm and clean, the people friendly. It was a sturdy little boat, gone now from our Rondout creek for some 30 years. It was chained to both sides of the creek with two chains. One wound around its drum inside to make it go, the other to keep it from swaying too much from tide and wind. Yet she had to have a licensed pilot. To the present youngest generation this will all seem so unreal no doubt, in years to come, yet most of us remember it so vividly.

Bees in Bedroom

Dublin (AP)—Henry Lawrence of Ballymena, Ireland, has a beehive in his bedroom. He installed the hive two years ago and now has a colony of 25,000 bees in winter and upwards of 70,000 in the summer. This year he collected 35 pounds of honey. Said Lawrence: "Most people associate bee-keeping with gardening, but I have proved that they can be kept successfully in the heart of a town."

Forger's Memory Slips

Great Falls, Mont. (AP)—A man who said he didn't remember forging checks decided to place his confidence in the accuracy of law enforcement officials here and pleaded guilty to the offense. The 31-year-old man when arraigned on a charge of issuing a bad check told the judge, "To tell you the truth, your honor, I didn't know I wrote them." The judge apparently thought otherwise. He gave the man five years.

Norwegian Union Leaders Visit Kingston

A party of nine top trade union leaders from Norway visited the F. Jacobson and Sons shirt factory here early this week. The group, sponsored by the Mutual Security Agency in cooperation with the Norwegian government, is here to study collective bargaining methods, industrial engineering in trade unions and the use of economic research in collective bargaining. The government has entered into contract with Bard College to use its facilities as an orientation center for a minimum of 40 groups by June, 1953, these teams to visit New York, Akron, Indianapolis, Chicago, Portland, Oregon, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington, D. C.

Those in the group are Alf Henry Andersen, secretary, Norwegian Federation of Trade Unions; Anton Andreas Andresen, president, Norwegian National Union of Boot and Shoe Workers; Bernard Bernsten, president, Bergen and Western Norway Labor Council; Josef Berg, secretary of the team, education and press officer, Norway Federation of Labor (also interpreter for group); Anders Nordal Mork, secretary, National Union Telegraph and Telephone Workers; Kaare Pehrsen, president, Norwegian National Union of Paper Industry Workers; Karsten Ingemann Torkildsen, president, Norwegian National Union of Chemical Industry Workers; Martin Tranmael, editor, Arbeiderbladet, member executive Norwegian Labor Party; John Henry Wivegh, president Norwegian National Union Building Industry Workers.

The group is escorted by Adelph Germer, project manager, and Sam Norcini, project escort. Mrs. Mabel L. Fisher, business agent for Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, is at the far right.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Fisher and William Buckbinder of the F. Jacobson and Sons management, participated in a forum at Bard College, together with Frank Michele, of the State Labor Department, and the Norwegian leaders, on the subject of labor management relations and collective bargaining at the plant level. (Freeman photo)

Baked Lamb in Barbecue Sauce

For a supper dish that's tasty, bake breast of lamb in a spicy barbeque sauce. Have the lamb cut into serving-size pieces, brown in a heavy skillet, pour off the drippings, add the sauce, and bake in a moderate oven about twenty minutes before it's done, so the barbeque sauce is almost all absorbed.

Remembers Aid

Indianapolis (AP)—A 62-year-old white-haired grandmother from Weissport, Pa., suffered a great loss in passing through Indianapolis last July when her 3-year-old grandson was killed in an accident involving her car. But the boy's death didn't keep the grandmother from returning to Indianapolis recently with gifts for all who helped at the scene of the accident.

As a final tribute to Kingston's 300th anniversary celebration, the Old Dutch Church will present a historical pageant, Heritage, in Bethany Hall Sunday, Nov. 9, at 8 p. m.

The pageant will depict the history of the local church, which was founded shortly after the first settlers arrived in Esopus Valley in 1653. A chapel built of logs on approximately the present site was burned by the Indians in 1663. A later edifice of stone was destroyed by the British forces under General John Vaughn in 1777. The brick church, built in 1832, was used as an armory during the Civil War and is now St. Joseph's Church. The present building was erected in 1852.

Heritage will tell the heroic story of the church's fight for civil and religious freedom during five wars and numerous political and religious upheavals. The pageant, much of which is in verse form, will include tableaux as well as dramatic episodes and intervals.

The leading role, that of Andries Van der Sluys, first lay-reader of the church, will be played by Roger H. Loughran, who will serve as narrator and "host" for the evening.

Others Assisting

A complete musical score with choral effects has been arranged by Donald R. Romme, minister of music. Assisting him will be Howard Houghtaling. The recording was supervised by William Murray. Special lighting effects will be directed by Joseph Flowers and Henry Millonig. Staging and scenic effects will be by William Murray, Henry Senft, Jr., William Reed. Alexander Yosman, James Little, Wesley Hogan, Miss Dorothy DuMond, Miss Agnes Scott Smith and Mrs. Helen Terwilliger. Mrs. William Hilton is in charge of costuming, assisted by Miss Martha Barnett and Miss Ione Kinkade. Members of the Christian Endeavor Society will be ushers.

The pageant was written and directed by Mrs. Charles S. Jones, Jr.

Cast Makeup

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA) — For the woman who wears half-sizes, fashions is just so much twaddle unless she can find clothes that really fit. Not only should they fit, they should do things for her: make her eyes sparkle, her skin glow, her figure look young and firm.

She's not just looking for something with which to cover herself; this she could accomplish by using a barrel or a tarpaulin.

In these days of the shrunken dollar, no woman relishes paying out money for alterations. She feels she has the right to clothes that fit at the outset. And it still isn't easy for her to find what she wants—handsome cothes that are right for her figure.

Half-size dresses too often look as if they'd been planned for a figure not only mature but dumpy.

Each season however, the half-size dress, suit and coat make new gains. As an example, we show here a winter suit (left) for a half-size figure.

Designed by David Lieberman in a nubby tweed, it has a double-breasted jacket over a six-gore skirt. Jacket is collared and lined with soft, warm alpaca.

Modified fullness is used (right) for figure flattery in a coat by this same designer. In small-curl poodle fabric, it has a snug, young beaver collar. Sleeves are widely cuffed in beaver.

Artists Needn't Be Bad

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—The idea of certain critics and biographers that a wild, disorganized or unhappy personal life is necessary for artistic creativeness was attacked recently by a professor at the University of California. Dr. William Frost said there is no simple or inevitable relation between art and morals. They are two separate spheres, he said, in suggesting that esthetic judgments about an artists' work be kept distinct from ethical ones about his life.

Deordorized Skunk

Helena, Mont. (AP) — "Channel No. 5," a deodorized pet skunk, took to the hills after he heard he was booby prize in a charity fund drive. R. A. Dightman, campaign chairman, sounded a city-wide alarm. "One bad point about losing a deodorized skunk," he said, "is that someone might return a different one."

Brandy Drivers Stay Sober

New York (AP)—The 12 drivers of trucks carrying brandy for a German concern apparently are not tempted by their cargo because all recently received awards for sober and careful driving, it has been reported here. The trucks carry 10,000 gallons of eight-year-old German Uralt brandy made by the Asbach & Co., of Ruedesheim-on-Rhine near Wiesbaden. The awards were made by Germany's equivalent of America's National Safety Council created to encourage accident prevention.

Mecca to Get Electricity

New York (AP)—Next spring the holy city of Mecca, forbidden to non-Moslems, will get electricity for the first time, reports the British Information Service here. A British firm has almost completed a 4,000-kilowatt power plant outside the city. It will feed 25 miles of cables and 15 substations inside the city gates. Every year thousands of devout Moslems make the pilgrimage to Mecca in Saudi-Arabia to pray at the shrines of Mohammed.

Shopping by Helicopter?

New York (AP)—A midtown Manhattan department store is considering turning its extensive roof into a landing field for helicopters of shoppers from the suburbs. William M. Holmes, president of James McCreery & Co., displayed on the store's fourth floor a model of a commuters' helicopter. Engineers say the store roof is big enough to accommodate them. There is one physical obstacle however. Across the street is the Empire State Building, world's tallest, whose television transmitting tower was originally constructed as a dirigible mooring mast. Up and downdrafts, not to mention swirling lateral currents, were usually so violent that no dirigible ever approached it and pilots gave it a wide berth.

MICHAEL GUIDO

Michael Guido, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Guido of 22 Van Gaasbeck street, has left for Beirut, Lebanon, for service in the Point 4 program of the State Department.

Guido was in Washington for the summer months working in the Public Affairs Office, audio-visual section, of the Point 4 program. He then attended the Department of State Foreign Service Institute's Point 4 Seminar on Overseas Operations. Guido studied Lebanese Arabic and expects to continue this study at the American University of Beirut. He will have an interpreter for official duties. After this formal training, Guido took one week at the Bell & Howell Co. in Chicago where he worked on all types of cameras and film projector equipment that will be used in the program overseas.

He had two days leave at his parents' home before leaving from International Airport in New York Sunday, Nov. 9. En route to his post, he has scheduled stopovers in Frankfort, Germany, and Rome, Italy, where he will attend a Middle East Area Conference of Point 4 directors. GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY "YES"

A mother writes: "While out with her boy friend one evening, my daughter admired a quilted robe in one of the shop windows. Two weeks later she received this robe from him for a birthday present. I have told my daughter that I think this present in very bad taste and it would be very indiscreet of her to keep it. She says she will return it if you say so, and also tell her how to do it without hurting his feelings."

I'm sorry but it would be against all rules of convention to keep it. It is really incorrect for a boy to give a girl any item of wearing apparel of any sort — especially bedroom apparel. I think if she shows this letter to him, his feelings could hardly be hurt.

Depends on Traffic

Dear Mrs. Post: Some of us hold that the right thing for a gentleman is to get out of the car which he is driving, walk around and open the door and assist a lady in getting out. Others of us hold that this was all right twenty years ago, but in this day and age, a lady would feel quaint to have a man wait on her to such a degree. What is your opinion?

Answer: A punctilious man might, but it depends upon the traffic. On a quiet street he would; on a business street, he would not.

Engagement Ring Is Not a Requirement

Dear Mrs. Post: At the present time, my fiance-to-be is unable financially to buy me an engagement ring. Under the circumstances, would it be proper to make a formal announcement of our engagement? If this is permissible, what can I say to friends and realtives who ask to see my ring?

Answer: An engagement ring is not a necessity. Thousands of married women have never had engagement rings. You simply say, "I haven't one. John's putting what money he has into furniture for the house," or something similar.

Avoid Conspicuousness

Dear Mrs. Post: When there is a large party of men and women seated at one table in a restaurant, must all the men rise when one of the ladies leaves the table?

Answer: Only those next to her make the gesture of standing.

When alighting from a vehicle should the gentleman go first? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," includes the answer to the above question. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Washline Raiders Caught

Missoula, Mont. (AP)—Police here uncovered some boxes and came up with some clean wash, thus apparently solving the mysterious clothesline raids that plagued 12 families. One of the victims, the commissioner of public safety, looked through the three large boxes of clothes and came up with six of his freshly laundered shirts. That clinched it for the police. They're holding two teen-age boys.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill, Nov. 5—Students at Wallkill Central School have now completed their schedules for Career Day, which will be celebrated November 6, under the direction of Miss Virginia Igou, guidance director at the school. The program will begin at 9 a. m. with a general assembly to which the board of education, the citizen advisory committee, the entire student body and faculty members have been invited.

From 9:40 a. m. to 3 p. m. students will attend at least three conferences on careers of their choice given by experts in the various fields and will also see at least two vocational films. The films, chosen by Bernard M. Law, audio-visual director at the school, will supply information on such industries and occupations for which speakers are not available.

Among the careers which noted community speakers will discuss are: Dairy and fruit farming, nursing, home economics, army and navy, photography, library work, teaching, hotel and restaurant occupations, communications, engineering, art, auto mechanics and secretarial work.

The Career Day will be concluded with a student conducted assembly quiz program. Gerald Deckard, a senior, will act as master of ceremonies.

The Parents Club of Wallkill Central School will meet at the school library at 8 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 6. Miss Helen Lyons, a faculty member, will talk on Old Friends and New Faces and will give suggested approved readings for students from kindergarten to high school age.

Co-chairmen for the evening are Mrs. George Wildrick and Mrs. Mary VandeMark. The welcoming committee consists of Mrs. Chester Howard, Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. Ira Wickner, Mrs. Cornelius Meyers, Mrs. Crosby Wilkins, Mrs. Lawrence Doland, Mrs. John Powell and Leonard Gunsch.

Students of Wallkill Central School recently received the second issue of the Wallkill Blue and White newspaper.

The staff includes editors, Arthur J. Scarzello, Anne Stoneburg, Mildred Sutton, Gerald Deckard, Shirley DeLewis and Kathleen O'Grady. Reporters include Pauline Krupp, Joyce Haun, Shirley Sutton, Abraham Castro, Picolia Connor, Donald Simpson, Janet Quick and Dorothy Terwilliger.

Included in the printing department are Lorraine Terwilliger, Pauline Krupp, Barbara Meyers, Alice Baumann, Mille Sutton, and Anne Stoneburg. Features, Gwen Smith, Pat Pink, Norman Kwamme, William Lynch, Charles Cook, Joyce Haun, Pecolia Connor and Madelin Qiumones.

There will be a regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rose-Sheeley Post 1034 of Wallkill at the Legion rooms at 8 p. m. on Monday evening, Nov. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hudela of Kingston spent the weekend at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Byczek.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Wagenen entertained Tuesday at their home Mr. and Mrs. George Shakespeare of Oil City, Pa.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, the Wallkill Woman's Club held its annual Gentlemen's Night dinner at the Reformed Church Hall in Wallkill.

Following the dinner, prepared by the ladies of the Willing Worker Society of the church, an organ and piano duet was played by Mrs. Charles Penney at the piano and Mrs. Jack Kessler at the organ. The selections were Shubert's Serenade and Romance by Rubinstein.

The speaker for the evening, Frederick Snyder of Kingston was introduced by Mrs. James Crowell. His topic was America Breaking Up or Growing Up.

Snyder, who is currently on a lecture tour of the Town Hall Club, has lectured in many cities throughout the country. He is the 10th generation of American born ancestors, a member of Sons of American Revolution, The Rotary Club, a member of the U. S. Army Reserve Officers Club, The International Platform Association and editor of the Verban Newspaper, Keeping ahead of the Headlines.

In his remarks, Snyder stressed the important need of changing some of the election practices now being employed. This he felt was necessary because of the changed methods of communication and the fluid movement of the population. No longer should it be necessary to carry on such exhausting and expensive campaigns. Likewise more care should be given in permitting the televising of political conventions which might distract from the serious chore to be done.

After receiving the nomination for President the candidate should not be forced to wage such strenuous campaigns that it becomes injurious to his health. Instead, once he has stated his policies in a complete and understandable manner, the job of campaigning should be delegated to a number of worthy assistants, according to Snyder. It is too bad that the American people are indifferent to the great heritage which is theirs. Thousands of dollars are being spent to promote a desire on the part of the people to vote.

America is a determined country made up of men and women with vision. Through its resourcefulness and vision, the use of atomic energy will be introduced to consumer use within the next five years.

In his closing remarks, Snyder stressed that America is strong and will succeed because of its faith in God.

The next regular business meeting of the club will be held at the Wallkill National Bank community room on Friday, Nov. 14 at 2:30 p. m. Marion Orlowski of Plattekill will speak on Interior Decorating. Mrs. Jesse McHugh is program chairman and Mrs. Leslie C. Edsall, social chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris entertained at Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen and children, Donna and Douglas of New Hurley, Mrs. Viola Jansen and Ned Sophin of Long Island.

Mrs. George Sohn was a Sunday guest at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Conklin.

On Friday at 2 p. m. the Missionary Society of the Wallkill Reformed Church will hold a food sale at the town clerk's office in Wallkill.

New Paltz Teachers College News

Art Exhibitions

Two exhibitions of works by contemporary artists are currently on display at State University Teachers College, New Paltz. Both are open to the public and will remain on exhibit until Saturday, Nov. 15.

The paintings displayed in the College Union building include the works of four artists and are on loan from the Passedoit Gallery in New York city. Jean Lurcat, one of France's most famous artists, is represented by six gouaches; Robert Adams, a British sculptor of outstanding promise, has included several monotypes; B. J. O. Nordfeldt, well-known American expressionist, has contributed six watercolors; and John von Wicht, German-American abstract painter, is represented by eight drawings. An exhibition of von Wicht's oils is currently showing at the Passedoit Gallery in New York city.

The two American artists who are represented in the exhibition in the main college building are Philip Evergood and Gregorio Prestopino. Both are expressionists, more realistic than abstract, and both are known for the sharp social comment of their work.

Evergood is a real social satirist whose works have a slightly bitter twist. He is represented in the permanent collections of prominent museums in this country and abroad, and has received awards at the Art Institute of Chicago, the Metropolitan Museum and other galleries. He was recently awarded second prize in the well-known Pepsi-Cola competition.

Prestopino is known for richness and inventiveness in color composition. Several of his paintings were shown at New Paltz in 1949 as part of an exhibition which included works by students and faculty members of the Brooklyn Museum Art School where he was teaching at the time. He has had five one-man shows at the ACA Gallery, New York city, and has exhibited in museums and galleries throughout the country. He was also represented in the recent U. S. State Department exhibit in Paris and won third prize in the Pepsi-Cola competition.

Recital

A violin-piano recital will be given in the main lounge of the College Union at State University Teachers College, New Paltz, Monday, Nov. 17, at 4:30 p. m. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend, free of charge.

Murray Katz, concert violinist from New York city, and Victor Landau of the music faculty at the college will be the featured artists.

The program will include the Mozart Sonata in E Minor, and the Brahms Sonata in G Major, both for violin and piano.

Chorus Elects

Marianna Genovese was elected president of the College-Community Mixed Chorus for 1952-53 at the weekly meeting of the group October 27.

Mrs. Arthur Kurtz is vice-president, and Frances Freer, secretary-treasurer. Two librarians, Margaret Pickios and Marjorie Stickeler, were appointed by Conductor Robert J. Strothenke.

The 90-voice chorus, consisting of singers from both the College and community, is currently rehearsing for its annual Christmastime concert scheduled for December 4.

Sorosis Discussion Has Varied Topics At Recent Meeting

A round table discussion of the book, the Struggle for Europe, by Chester Wilmot was led by Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Mrs. Edward Rick and Mrs. Deweese W. DeWitt, at a meeting of Sorosis on Monday in the home of Mrs. George W. Ross.

The events leading up to World War 2, were presented by Mrs. Graham. She emphasized the important part played by radar and radio telephones.

Personalities of American, British and German military leaders, as they related to the conduct of the war, were reviewed by Mrs. DeWitt.

Facts regarding the military strategy employed in the war and the Teheran and Yalta conferences which followed, were given by Mrs. Rick. She concluded by saying "that the struggle for Europe did not close at the end of World War 2, but rather that a new phase of struggle began."

Mrs. William Ochs, president, reported briefly on the recent meeting of the Ulster County Federation of Women's Club, held at Malden. She urged members to write for a pamphlet, The Misuse of Chemicals in Food, which was recommended by Mrs. Rowland Davis, president, New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Coach House Players Receive Recognition, Seeking New Members

The New York State Association of Little Theatres has advised the Coach House Players that the group has been recognized as "one of the most outstanding theatre groups in the state."

This announcement was made today by Irving Rose, president, who said "it has been the aim of the organization to bring to the people of Kingston a higher quality of entertainment, as well as to provide an outlet for undiscovered talent."

The local thespians are in the midst of a membership drive for associate and patron members. These members are given the privilege of having reserved seats for three major performances presented annually by the group. The first offering for the current season will be the popular comedy, Grammercy Ghost, to be presented on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22, in the George Washington school. Productions for February and May will be announced.

In its drive for new members and renewal of former memberships, the committee makes known the fact that "it is only through the continued support of associate and patron members that high quality dramatic performances can be sustained."

High School Alumni Group Asks Heavy Attendance for Port Game

Public Appeal to Be Made Through Paper

A group of prominent Kingston High School alumni plan to make a public appeal for a rousing attendance at Saturday's DUSO League game with Port Jervis High at municipal stadium, it was learned today.

The appeal will come in the form of an advertisement in Friday's issue of The Freeman and will call upon all KHS students, alumni and rooters to turn out for the final home game of the 1952 DUSO season.

The group which requested anonymity said they hoped the public would respond and jampack the stadium for the crucial contest. They said they felt that the attendance at KHS contests this season was not commensurate with the team's splendid record and expressed the hope that the City of Kingston would not miss this opportunity to pay tribute to Coach Bill Burke's spectacular 1952 brigade.

Victory Is Must

Kingston High, undefeated with five straight victories after a tie in the seasonal opener, must defeat the Red and Black in order to stay in the pennant picture.

Saturday's DUSO slate will find two tremendous battles being waged at the same time. The chastened Newburgh Academy squad, stung by a 20-4 upset by Beacon, invades Poughkeepsie where a resurgent Blue eleven is poised for a smashing upset.

It is safe to say that while the games are being resolved, each town, student body and players will have an eye and an ear cocked to the other side of the Hudson.

The Blues can do Kingston a king-sized favor while enhancing their own pennant chances by defeating Newburgh in what figures to be a titanic ground duel.

Middies Fall Guys

Port Jervis hasn't been much and neither has Middletown. The Middies have a later date with NFA and the Goldbacks should roll to an easy victory, while Port goes against Kingston a prohibitive underdog.

Coach Bill Burke has been faced with a psychological problem of keeping the Maroon "up" following their smashing triumph over Oneonta. Two weeks will have elapsed between games due to an inopportune break in the schedule. If Kingston approaches anything like its Oneonta form, Port is doomed to failure.

In stiff practices since Oneonta, however, Coach Burke has never once permitted his varsity gridders to forget that back in 1948 Port Jervis upset one of the mightiest elevens in KHS history.

Poughkeepsie partisans are discounting the slight underdog role of the Blues and point to Sam Kalloch's outstanding all-time record against the DUSO conference.

In 61 games against Kingston, Port Jervis, Middletown and Newburgh, Kalloch-coached squads have won 39, lost 18 and tied 4. Newburgh with five wins and two ties in 15 meetings has been Poughkeepsie's toughest DUSO rival.

The breakdown:

Team	W	L	T
Kingston	14	8	1
Port Jervis	11	2	1
Middletown	8	3	1
Newburgh	6	5	2

Blues Are Ready

Kalloch has done a remarkable job with a green squad that rebounded from a first-game defeat by Beacon into a DUSO power. The portly mentor recently took time out to praise the courage and ability of his greenies. The players responded by overwhelming Port Jervis.

With respect to the Newburgh game, Kalloch had this to say:

"We took things a little easy last week, but our tempo has been stepped up in workouts this week. We'll be ready . . . for Newburgh." To which Kingston rooters add a fervent amen.

Jayvees Wind Up Grid Slate Friday

Coach Bill Hurley's KHS football Jayvees wind up their 1952 campaign against the Coxsackie High School Friday at 4 p. m. at municipal stadium. In their last two games the Jayvees shaded undefeated Tannersville High, 7-6, and edged Poughkeepsie Jayvees, 2-0.

Knicks Sign Holdouts

Two standout members of the New York Knickerbockers, Dick McGuire and Max Zaslofsky, ended their holdouts Wednesday after holding a conference with Ned Irish, executive director of Madison Square Garden. Both were reported to have received compromise offers. McGuire is expected to see action in the game at the Garden Saturday against Baltimore in a regular NBA contest. Zaslofsky, who will begin workouts today, will miss the Baltimore game.

New York—Mexico captured its first international jumping event of the National Horse Show, Capt. Victor Carillo winning the Royce A. Drake Memorial Challenge trophy.

KINGSTON'S OWN DEERSLAYER

Michael Spada, who operates Spada's Sports Shop at 588½ Broadway, earned the distinction of being the first Kingston hunter to bag a deer with a bow and arrow. He had previously shot several deer with rifle but took up the bow and arrow for the first time this season. Spada got his deer near Davenport in Delaware county at 35-yard range with a 60-pound pull glass bow. Also in the hunting party were Louis Natale and Santo Sorabello. (Freeman Photo).

Blue Devils Trample Schoonmaker Cagers

The Newkirk Aces pulled out a 56 to 55 squeaker victory over the Accord Chevies and the Blue Devils trampled the Schoonmaker Five by 79-46 in Wednesday night's brace of cage games in the B Division at the YMCA.

Opening up after trailing 43 to 35 at the end of the third quarter, Accord nearly upended the Aces but a foul conversion went astray in the last couple of seconds which would have tied the game at 56-all.

The Aces jumped off to a 21-13 lead at the first quarter and led by 30-24 at the half.

Accord found itself in the final canto by scoring 20 points to the Aces' 13 but the attempt fell short when Lowell Baker's second of two foul tries missed. Baker put the Chevies close to the Aces with a deuce and was fouled in the act of shooting. His first foul try was good making it 56-55. The second try, however, hit the backboard and bounded out and a second later it was all over with the Aces holding on to a slim one-point decision.

Van Wagenen Hits

Bill DuBois topped both clubs in scoring with 28 points on 11 fields and six foul shots. Phil McClusky, also of the Aces, followed with 12. Milford Ebert and Schoonmaker were high for the losers with 20 and 12 in that order.

The Blue Devils, with Hy Van Wagenen setting the pace with 31 points, breezed to their 79-46 victory last night. Bruce Hinkley found the range for 20 and Shaver accounted for 13. Russell hit 24 for the losing Schoonmaker quintet.

Okies Picked to Defeat Irish; Tech Is Given Edge Over Cadets

Spartans and UCLA Also Favored to Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Who says that picking football winners is as easy as picking apples? Not this forecaster, who had only 36 correct selection in 49 decisions last Saturday. That's an average of .735.

Last Saturday's debacle dragged the seasonal mark down to .771 on figures of 229 won, 68 lost.

Here are the uninsured winners of this weekend's games:

Michigan State over Indiana: NCAA statistics show that Michigan State has the most fearsome attack in the land. The statistics say nothing about Indiana's defense.

Oklahoma over Notre Dame: Quarterback Crowder and center Catlin, Oklahoma's C-C boys, to turn the tide even though the game is played in South Bend. The game is your TV morsel Saturday afternoon. It should be just about the best game you'll get to see in your living room all season.

Georgia Tech over Army: Two football whirlwinds. In addition to all that speed Georgia Tech has an awesome backfield trio in Turner, Teas and Hardiman.

UCLA over Oregon State: Should be easy unless UCLA relaxes too much.

Southern California over Stanford: Too much Trojan defense.

Kansas over Nebraska: The injury lists are about of equal length but Kansas is superior in most other respects.

Tennessee over Louisiana State: Since that 7 to 0 setback by Duke, Tennessee has been bowl-bound.

Purdue Risks Hopes

Purdue over Minnesota: There is at least one upset in the Big Ten each week but this doesn't appear to be the place for it. Purdue on its way to the Rose Bowl.

Duke over Navy: A squeaker.

Texas over Baylor: Arkansas beat Baylor, Texas crushed Arkansas. Off comparative scores.

Penn over Georgia: Some day those Quakers will break loose and this could be the Saturday.

Princeton over Harvard: The venerable Big Three series is resumed and for the first time in a decade all have fashionable records. Princeton, however, has met the stauncher opponents.

Finishing the rest in a hurry:

Other Selections

Friday night:

Detroit over Boston College, Bucknell over George Washington, Miami of Ohio over Marquette, Vanderbilt over Miami of Florida.

Saturday:

Trinity over Amherst, Fordham over Clemson, Connecticut over Brown, Columbia over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over Colgate, Rutgers over Lafayette, Maine over Bowdoin, Syracuse over Penn State, Coast Guard over RPI, Temple over Boston University, Wesleyan over Williams.

Midwest: Toledo over Bradley, Michigan over Cornell, Colorado over Missouri, Iowa State over Drake, Illinois over Iowa, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Ohio State over Pitt, Villanova over Tulsa, Wyoming over Kansas State.

Wins in Farewell

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Frank Safford made his farewell appearance at Yonkers Raceway last night by driving Ogden Hanover past the field in the stretch for a head triumph over favorite Claude Hanover in the feature event before a crowd of 12,983. Safford kept Ogden in third place behind the leading Claude Hanover and Prince Eton, the latter taking a brief lead at the seven-eighth marker. As they hit the stretch turn, Safford lifted the reins and Ogden responded with a burst which took him home. Ichabod Crain came fast to gain the show spot. Ogden Hanover covered the mile in 2:05.1 and paid $6.90, $3.20 and $2.90.

Miron HVBL Lead Reduced to Two Games; Wally Gerken's 202-Plus High Average

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

KEEP GAME MEAT SAFE IN CAMP....

KEEPING GAME IN FREEZING WEATHER IS LESS OF A PROBLEM THAN DURING WARM OR WET RAINY WEATHER. IT SHOULD BE HUNG UNDER A ROOF OR IF SPRUCE OR FIR BOUGHS ARE HANDY, NAIL THEM TO THE SUPPORTING TREE ABOVE THE MEAT FOR A COVER TO KEEP IT DRY. A HEAD-HANGING CARCASS SHEDS WATER BEST.

KEEP MEAT IN SHADE OR WRAPPED IN CANVAS BY DAY. HANG IN THE OPEN AT NIGHT, UNWRAPPED. LIFT IT HIGH ENOUGH TO THWART SMALL PREDATORS. TIE A HANDKERCHIEF TO IT TO KEEP COYOTES AWAY. PROWLING BEARS MAY SOMETIMES RAID THE MEAT BUT NOT OFTEN IN A CAMP.

New Orleans — Georgia Tech accepted an invitation to play an unnamed opponent in the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl.

Unbeaten Georgia Tech Accepts Early Bid for Sugar Bowl Game

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The scramble for teams for the Jan. 1 football bowl spectacles was on today. With New Orleans' Sugar Bowl out in front of the pack.

Georgia Tech, unbeaten, untied and unsurpassed at the moment as a bowl attraction, agreed to play in the Sugar Bowl yesterday, thus becoming one of the earliest bowl-bound teams since the New Year's Day classics were started. Who the powerful engineers, third-ranked in The Associated Press poll, will meet is anybody's guess, but the Sugar Bowl now has one team more than anybody else.

Far From Settled

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, grand-daddy of the January spectacles, will, of course, match the Pacific Coast Conference and Big 10 champions. Dallas' Cotton Bowl will have the Southwest Conference winner as host team. But the three conference races are far from settled, and nobody can say for sure at this date who'll be defending conference honors Jan. 1.

The Miami Orange Bowl, fourth of the Big Four bowls, will hold a committee meeting this weekend, and members declined to discuss any possible teams until then. A spokesman commented, however, that "November is an important month in football and we want to pick the best teams."

A rundown of the top ten teams shows that only one other team, eighth-ranked Tennessee; is eligible for a bowl bid. The Volunteers, who have appeared in many bowl games in past years, are still trying to live down an early season loss to Duke, which was whomped, 28-7, by Georgia Tech last Saturday.

Spartans Not Eligible

Michigan State, No. 1, is a member of the Big Ten, although not eligible for conference football competition until next year. Maryland, No. 2, is barred by a Southern Conference ruling against bowl games, and Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade said last night he knows of no movement to change the rule. There had been rumors that the conference might relax the ban to allow Maryland a second go-round in the Sugar Bowl. The Terrapins walloped Tennessee, 28-13, last Jan. 1.

Oklahoma, No. 4, and Kansas, No. 7, are members of the Big Seven, which frowns on bowls, while UCLA, No. 5, will meet sixth-ranked Southern California Nov. 15 in the battle for Pacific coast honors.

Purdue, No. 9, is the current favorite to meet the UCLA-USC winner in the Rose Bowl, and Notre Dame, No. 10, does not go in for bowl games.

Weishaupt Pounds 686 for New Record; E. Schoonmaker Tops Women With 528

Larry Weishaupt established a new high individual series record for the Central Rec Major Wednesday night when he unloaded a sizzling string of 224-255-207 for a powerful 686.

The previous high for the league was owned by George "Curly" Flemings who had previously shot 668.

On the distaff side of the ten-pin picture, Elizabeth Schoonmaker, more and more becoming a familiar name to local bowling circles, fashioned a string of 150-209-169 for 528 to lead the Chalet Pioneer Women's League.

Wolfersteig Raps 638

Clarence Wolfersteig led the Central Hudson keglers in resounding style with a hefty 638 blast which is a new high series for the C-H circuit. Wolfersteig blasted scores of 213-212-213 for his big total.

Other league leaders found Pete Tartarzewski setting the pace in the CYO Holy Name League with 198-215-169 for 582; while Marcia Olbert posted 162-189-150 for 501 to lead the Bowlodrome Pioneer Women's wheel.

Following Larry Weishaupt's big night in the Central Rec Major was Bill Murray who fired games of 202-225 for 605, the only other 600 in the circuit.

Top 500s included Tom Carlino with 203-594; Al Kieffer 222-586; Ed Heins 204-585; Joe "Bush" Sangi 202-581; H. Myers 580; Tom Welch 202-205-577; Herb Van Deusen 214-569; Lew Hymes 236-561; Dick Howard 221-561; Lottie Cashara 557; Charlie "Juice" Manfro 229-556 and Ad Jones 551.

Old Capital Motors shot 1027 in their middle game while Hymes Shoe posted a top series of 2877.

Runnerup to Wolfersteig in the Central Hudson circuit was Roy Weber with 212-562 while Burt Burr registered 525; Frank Vaselewski 498; F. Renn 497 and George Schick 482.

Other top efforts in the CYO loop were Henry Houska with 205-550; John Sweeney 530; H. Yonnetti 528; Joe Manello 200-520; George Yonnetti 520; Gerry Smith 519; Nick Bruck 514; John Auer 512; John Zeeh 201-551 and John Smith 508.

Kathleen Houska toppled 467 as the No. 2 keglerette in the Chalet Women's wheel while June Van Kleeck hit 451; Emma Pratt 445; J. Rossler 424; Joan Schultz 418; Livia Tenedini 403 and Mabel Cudney 400.

Bonus and Inter-League Waiver Deals May Undergo Big Changes

OB Favors Extending Deadline to July 15

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Two of baseball's thorniest problems — payment of fabulous bonuses to untried youngsters and inter-league waiver deals after the trading deadline — may undergo sweeping changes next month during the major-minor league meetings at Phoenix, Ariz.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick expounded at length during a press conference in his office yesterday over proposed legislation which the big and little moguls of the game will be asked to vote on at their confabs.

The important rule change, recommended by a special committee, would extend the current trading deadline from midnight of June 15 to the witching hour of July 15.

After the the trading deadline no player deals could be made with the exception of the waiver route.

Inter-league waiver deals will be tougher to make, however, if the new proposals are adopted.

The new rule stipulates that a player must first be waived out of his own league and then offered first to the club lowest in the standing of the rival circuit and furthermore the purchase price must not exceed $10,000.

This would sharply curtail the passing of stars from one league to the other such as Hank Borowy from the New York Yanks to the Chicago Cubs in 1945 for $100,000.

Some observers feel that this rule is aimed at the New York Yankees who in the past few years outbid other American League clubs for the services of Johnny Mize, Johnny Hopp, Johnny Sain and Ewell Blackwell after they were waived out of the National League.

Okays Yankees Deals

Frick was quick to point out that this is not the case.

"The Yankee deals during the past few years were entirely legitimate deals, he said, "but I believe this new rule is good because it would erase any suspicions the fans might have. I have received more letters from fans regarding inter-league transactions than about any other rule."

The new bonus rule drawn up by the committee provides:

1. Any player paid in excess of $4,000 by any club from a league of Class A classification and up will be tagged as a bonus player. Any prospect who receives more than $3,000 for signing with a team below the Class A rating will also be a bonus player. The cash figures include salary with the exception of the majors whose minimum stipend is $5,000.

Must Be Kept Two Years

2. A major league bonus player must be retained for two years before he can be optioned to the minors. Any minor league bonus player must pass through the unrestrictive draft at the end of the season. If a minor leaguer is unclaimed in the draft he loses his bonus brand.

Frick explained that the proposed new law doesn't prohibit the shelling out of vast sums for green kids.

Included in the proposal are the following provisos:

1. Executives of the clubs and the player contracted must sign affidavits certifying the amounts and considerations given on the contract.

2. If the designated official is found guilty of certifying a false amount the major league club will be subject to a fine of not less than $2,000 and the minor league club one of not less than $1,000.

In addition the player will be declared a free agent and all club officials involved in the violation shall be fined not less than $500 and liable to suspension or expulsion.

There is no bonus rule on the books at the moment. The last one was repealed during the minor-major meetings in 1950 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Clubs Seek Boone

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg claims three American League clubs have made overtures to him for Ray Boone, the Indians' supposedly mediocre shortstop. Hank says as recently as two years ago, he rejected Philadelphia manager Jimmy Dykes' offer of Eddie Joost even up for Boone.

Sal Maglie, ace righthander of the New York Giants, owns the best won and lost lifetime percentage of all active major league pitchers. "The Barber" has a four-year record of 65-22 for a .744 mark. Vic Raschi of the Yankees leads all pitchers who have toiled five or more years in the big leagues with a 107-44 .709 mark. Incidentally, Maglie, Raschi, Preacher Roe of Brooklyn, Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Al Brazle of the St. Louis Cardinals are the only pitchers with a better than .500 rating against all rival clubs. Roe owns the distinction of besting all eight clubs, including the Dodgers.

Did-you-know Department — When Rogers Hornsby took over the reins of the Cincinnati Reds, he joined Bucky Harris and Patsy Donovan as the only men to manage five different clubs. Harris led Washington, Detroit, Boston's Red Sox, New York's Yankees and Philadelphia's Phils. Donovan piloted Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, Washington, St. Louis-Cardinals and the Red Sox. Hornsby led the Cards, Browns, Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves before taking over the Reds.

Helicopter Hunting

Somewhere in Korea, Nov. 6 (AP)—A new sport in Korea is hunting from helicopters. One general, going to and from the front, has run up a bag, said his pilot, of "two foxes, three pheasants, 12 ducks and two geese." Asked if the general ever took his hunting dog along, the pilot said: "Hell no, I'm the retriever."

Shuba Under Knife

George Shuba, the Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, is expected to remain at Long Island College Hospital in Brooklyn for about two weeks following his operation performed Wednesday. Shuba underwent an operation for the removal of a torn semi-lunar cartilege from his right knee.

Checks Will Be Distributed Soon For Fair Winners

Checks totaling $6,953.50 will be received by Ulster County residents in the near future for premiums earned at the 1952 Ulster County Fair. Arrangements were made to pay the cash awards at a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Agricultural Society Wednesday night at which C. Chester DuMond, Jr., of Ulster Park presided.

August 19 and 20 were also set as the dates for the 1953 County Fair. As has been customary for several years the dates are set on the Wednesday and Thursday of the third week in August.

Pratt Boice, Treasurer of the Agricultural Society pointed out that slightly more than $4,000 of the nearly $7,000 total for premiums, goes to the 4-H Club Department. Mr. Boice said, "The fair is pleased to make it possible for 4-H Club members of the county to earn these premiums as a reward for hard work on their projects."

The Ulster County Fair has the unique distinction of being a strictly agricultural and homemaking fair and the only one to which no admission is charged.

Dies in London

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—Honore Pratesi, former French flyweight champion, died in the London Hospital today, 36 hours after being badly battered in a 10-round fight. The 31-year-old Frenchman was outpointed by Zulu Jake Tuli, British Empire champion, Tuesday night. Pratesi, collapsed in his dressing room an hour after the fight and was rushed to a hospital where two brain operations and a blood transfusion were performed yesterday. He was the 13th boxer to die of ring injuries in Britain since the war.

Washington Ave. Work Is Completed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that all work in the Washington avenue sewer tunnel has been completed and only a few minor details of work above ground are to be done before the project is finished.

The mayor with City Engineer Arthur J. Hallinan and staff inspected the tunnel from its eastern entrance to Elizabeth street yesterday. This was no easy subway venture, they indicated, because of the bent-over positions required for walking, and some sore muscles and joints were reported at city hall today.

About a third of the length of the Washington avenue tunnel is used in the new project which gives better sewer facilities to a large uptown residential section.

The tunnel extends from a point near North Front street on Washington avenue to Gilead street. The section used for the new project extends from Elizabeth street to Gilead street. A lower section was piped for the sanitary sewer and the larger upper area is for the storm water flow.

Zelnick to Give Himself Over in Federal Court

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ernest Zelnick, former Bureau of Internal Revenue agent who pleaded guilty to extorting $2,000 from a Cairo businessman, is to surrender in Federal Court tomorrow.

The 31-year-old Zelnick, of (129 Downs street) Kingston, was co-defendant with H. Harold Miller, 42, of Catskill.

Miller, an accountant, was found guilty by a jury last Monday of extorting $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefano and $1,000 from the latter's brother, Sam—both of Cairo—on a promise to fix an alleged error in an income tax return.

Miller was remanded to the custody of a U. S. marshal.

Zelnick, allowed to go free in $2,500 bail, testified for the prosecution after his guilty plea.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan, who announced yesterday the surrender order concerning Zelnick, did not elaborate.

Both Miller and Zelnick are scheduled to be sentenced Nov. 24.

No Shift Forecast

Tokyo, Nov. 6 (AP)—John M. Allison, U. S. assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, today forecast no major shift in America's relations with Japan and southeast Asia under the forthcoming Eisenhower Republican administration. Allison, asked at a news conference if he foresaw a change, replied: "Both parties are interested in Japan and Asia. I think you will find that the great interest and help given Japan will continue." Allison will go to Korea this weekend, then return to Japan to wind up an extensive tour of the Far East. He has visited the Philippines, Singapore, Burma, Indochina, Indonesia and Formosa. Allison said he had found in each nation that government leaders "have a better appreciation of the Communist threat in this part of the world."

OVERSEAS "PENTAGON"—Approximating the shape of Washington's mammoth Pentagon, which is the nation's Armed Forces headquarters, is this one-sfory structure near Tokyo, Japan. Locally known as the "Little Pentagon," it houses the general staff offices of the First Cavalry Division.

Safety Award Due Water Department

Thomas M. Davitt, president of the Board of Water Commissioners, said today, he has received word that a safety award is to be given the local water department by the State Insurance Fund of New York for the second successive year.

The award is given annually "In recognition of conservation of life and property for community, state and national interests by management and employes who have cooperated in a common humane purpose without a lost-time accident."

The award is on a basis of nationwide competition, and the plaque to be received locally, will be presented at a dinner meeting of the State Insurance Fund Nov. 25 at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

French Novelist Is Nobel Winner

Stockholm, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Royal Swedish Academy today awarded the 1952 Nobel prize for literature to French novelist Francois Mauriac, a leading contemporary Catholic author.

Mauriac, 67, and internationally known for such novels as "The Desert of Love" and "Vipers' Tangle," also is a poet, playwright, essayist, biographer and contributor to newspapers. He will receive 171,134 Swedish crowns ($33,037) from King Gustav Adolf at the Nobel prize presentation ceremony to be held here Dec. 10.

The 1952 prizes for physics and chemistry were scheduled to be announced later today, completing this years' list of honors bestowed under the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite, which established the $9,000,000 foundation which pays the prizes.

The award for medicine, announced Oct. 23, will go to U. S. Dr. Selman A. Waksman, of Rutgers University, co-discoverer of streptomycin. A committee of the Norwegian Parliament announced earlier that no peace prize would be given this year, the second time since World War 2 that no candidate has been picked to receive this honor.

Eighth French Winner

Mauriac is the eighth French writer to win the literature prize since the creation of the Nobel Foundation in 1901. He is considered an outstanding interpreter of human psychology.

The Bordeaux-born author writes principally of French provincial families, split by hatred and desire for vengeance and ruled by greed for material gain. His characters are portrayed with acute perception in all their misery and meanness.

But most of them have at least one redeeming feature. Mauriac emphasizes throughout his writings a belief that a sinner may come in for a share of God's grace if he can face truth in his life.

Travel Greater On Hudson Spans

Travel over the three Hudson river bridges under control of the New York State Bridge Authority in October was 8.62 per cent higher than for the same month in 1951, the authority reported today.

Last month's 584,918 vehicles were clocked against 538,524 in October, 1951, for an increase of 46,394 vehicles.

The Rip Van Winkle bridge near Catskill showed the highest gain with 134,408 clocked last month and 121,229 in October, 1951, a gain of 13,179 vehicles or 10.87 per cent.

The Mid-Hudson at Poughkeepsie was next with 309,457 vehicles last month against 285,468 a year of 23,989 or 8.40 per cent.

At Bear Mountain 141,053 vehicles were clocked last month and 131,827 a year ago for a gain of 9,226 or seven per cent.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry showed 8,365 vehicles carried last month against 6,637 a year ago, a gain of 1,728. It carried 2,316 passengers last month and 1,796 a year ago for a gain of 520. The authority said a heavy gain in the vehicular travel was probably due to use of trucks from the Callanan Road Improvement Co., hauling blacktop across the river.

Appeal Is Made

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Nov. 6 (AP)—A group of prominent Germans headed by Zeppelin pioneer Dr. Hugo Eckener made a public appeal today against ratification of West Germany's peace and defense contracts with the western allies. They demanded that the West German Parliament, which is expected to debate the measures late this month, postpone its decision until the last chance is exhausted for four-power agreement on the re-unification of Germany.
